How Many Credits Should I Take?*

Financial aid does not require you to attend full-time. In fact, we recommend that you enroll for the number of classes that you can manage and be successful in. Aid amounts identified on your Aid Offer notification letter are generally based on full-time enrollment. Complete an Enrollment Status Change form at bellevuecollege.edu/studentcentral/fa/forms/. We reduce or prorate the amount of your Aid Offer based on the number of credits you are enrolled in. The chart below shows how awards may be reduced based on the number of credits you enroll in.

Enrollment Status	Number of Credits	Percentage of Aid Awarded
Full time	12 or more credits	100%
¾ time	9 to 11 credits	75%
½ time	6 to 8 credits	50%
Less than ½ time	1 to 5 credits	25% or less. No loans available at this credit level.

*Aid cannot be awarded for classes that do not count toward your degree or certificate.

Types of Financial Aid

Financial Aid awards consist of grants, work-study and loans. Loans must be repaid. Work-study offers part-time employment during the academic year and limited full-time work during the summer after the year of attendance. Some funds such as Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant and Bellevue College Grant are limited and awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. Apply early!

Note: If you have a Bachelor's degree or the equivalent, you are limited to applying for student loans and Work-Study only.

Program (residents only)	Description	Program (all students)	Description
Washington College Grant	Undergraduate state grant	Federal Pell Grant	Undergraduate grant
Bellevue College Grant	Limited institutional funds	Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant	Exceptionally needy student Undergraduate grant
State Work-Study	Provides employment	Federal Work-Study	Provides Employment
Bellevue College Waiver	Limited institutional funds	Stafford Loans Subsidized/Unsubsidized	Federal loan program
		Parent Loans (PLUS)	Loans for parents of dependent students

Note: This table references the most common aid types offered but is not an exhaustive list.

Expected Family Contribution

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) uses federal methodology to calculate your Expected Family Contribution (EFC) by analyzing the income, asset, and other data reported on the application. Your EFC represents the amount of money you and your family are expected to contribute to your education expenses during the academic year.

How is my Award Determined?

The federal and state governments regulate the types and amounts of money you are eligible to receive, and therefore, when offering funds, we cannot exceed the Cost of Attendance (COA) or the student's unmet need. The calculation for determining need is the COA minus your Expected Family Contribution (EFC) which equals unmet need.

For example, when the Cost of Attendance (COA) for WA residents living at home is $16,164, the Expected Family Contribution (from the FAFSA) is $3,200. In this example, your unmet need would be the difference of $12,964.
