TEXT: Looking Out/Looking In, Adler , Proctor, & Towne, 13th edition. Cengage ISBN: 9780495898177. The first three chapters can be found in pdf files in the Getting Started Learning Module. Copies are also on reserve in the library under Nudelman, Oleson, or Communication Studies.

COURSE OBJECTIVE

The purpose of this course is to provide you with the knowledge and skills necessary for quality communication with other people. This objective will be accomplished through the study and application of interpersonal communication theory and concepts.

COURSE OUTCOMES

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

1. Define the process of communication and describe the specific qualities found in interpersonal relationships.
2. Explain the relationship between perception, self-concept, and communication.
3. Describe the characteristics of a competent communicator and the methods of improving language, nonverbal communication, and listening skills.
4. Identify the common stages of interpersonal relationships and discuss the recommendations for improved relationship initiation, maintenance, and termination.

5. Explain the influence of gender and culture in the interpersonal communication process.

6. Discuss the nature of conflict and explain the effectiveness of the various approaches to conflict management.

FORMAT

You will be engaged in online discussion and complete writing assignments that help you apply the material. This course ends with a comprehensive self-analysis of your communication competence. Although CMST 210 might seem like the ultimate contradiction--interpersonal online instruction, you will be given many opportunities to apply the information in the course. The reading materials in this class contain complex theory and terminology. It is highly recommended that you have a college reading level. Please consult your English placement test scores.

Quizzes

Quiz format consists of a combination of 50 true/false and multiple-choice questions. Quizzes will be timed (60 minutes) so be sure to take your assessment at a high speed connection. A review sheet will be made available before each exam. In addition, a discussion board will be opened for questions about the test before each exam.

Discussion Board Participation

Participation in chapter discussions is required for completion of the course and is worth 350 points. Students must answer one assigned question and respond to another student's answer for each chapter being discussed. Several additional discussions based on articles loaded onto the class web-site are also required. Postings must address all aspects of the discussion question and consist of a well-developed paragraph that includes references to the material found in the text. One sentence responses are unacceptable. Emphasis should be placed on discussing the concepts and theories discussed in the text and personal experience should only be used as examples of course-related material. The format for discussion board postings is very specific and could be very different from previous online classes you have taken.

Please consult the Guide for Discussion Participation found in the Getting Started Learning Module before you post your first discussion board message.

Application Exercises

This portion of the class is designed to help you apply a variety of topics discussed in the text and the added materials to daily interaction. Students will complete a series of personal assessments and exercises which are designed to make the textbook content applicable in the everyday encounters.

POLICIES

1. Late work (discussion board postings, quizzes, or application exercises) will not be accepted unless arrangements are made with me before the due date. This policy is in place to help students learn the skills that will help them succeed in future classes and the workplace. You can always post discussion board messages or submit application exercises in advance of the due dates and I encourage you to work ahead so a sudden work deadline or family issue does not create a difficulty for you. If you are experiencing a major illness or know that you will be out-of town during a quiz for a planned event such as a wedding or military service, please let me know in advance and we can work out a schedule to complete your work without penalty.

2. Students caught cheating on an exam or plagiarizing an assignment will not receive any credit for that portion of the class. Repeat offenses will be reported to the Dean of Student Programs.
3. Students are expected to model the behavior discussed in the content of this course. During online discussions you may certainly disagree and debate, but you are required to demonstrate tolerance and respect at all times in your postings. One general rule--please do not use all capital letters to emphasize a point when you are disagreeing with a student as this is the written equivalent of shouting.
4. Special Needs: The Disability Resource Center serves students with a wide array of learning challenges and disabilities. If you are a student who has a disability or learning challenge for which you have documentation or have seen someone for treatment and if you feel you may need accommodations in order to be successful in college, please contact us as soon as possible. If you are a student with a documented autism spectrum disorder, there is a program of support available to you. The DRC office is located in B 132 or you can call our reception desk at 425.564.2498. Deaf students can reach us by video phone at 425-440-2025 or by TTY at 425-564-4110. Please visit the DRC website for application information into the program and other helpful links at www.bellevuecollege.edu/drc Please meet with me if you have any questions.
