

The Financial Aid Office understands the FAFSA does not always accurately reflect your family's ability to contribute to educational expenses. In some cases, appeals for additional aid are considered for a change in financial or household circumstance. To request a review of your financial aid eligibility, submit a Special Conditions Appeal. Through this appeal process, the financial aid office has the authority to make changes to your FAFSA application or increase your Cost of Attendance in some cases.

It is important to know not all changes in circumstances result in an adjustment to your aid eligibility. Adjustments are also limited by fund availability. Visit our website for additional information at www.bellevuecollege.edu/fa
