Common Course Numbering Student Advisory

An advising resource to assist students in identifying courses which have been affected by common course numbering.

Common Course Numbering is a Washington State program for course Identification between community and technical colleges, effective summer quarter 2008, which changes the number and/or title of many courses.

▶ Who should use this booklet?

Students who have taken classes at BCC prior to summer quarter 2008 as Common Course Numbering may impact how you choose your future coursework.

▶ For questions and/or advising assistance:

This information is also available in the BCC 2008-2009 catalog, from academic advisors and online at: www.bellevuecollege.edu/ccn

Please Read Carefully

1. What is Common Course Numbering between community and technical colleges?

Washington State created the Common Course Numbering CCN system, which has renumbered and renamed courses that are commonly shared among Washington community and technical colleges.

2. Why is this information important to me?

It is important to you if you have taken courses at BCC prior to summer quarter 2008 because hundreds of course numbers and titles have changed and you do not want to accidentally repeat the same course. Remember: be careful when picking classes if you have previously taken courses at BCC.

3. I am a new student who has never taken classes at BCC... do I need to use the course change list and continue reading?

Only if you have previously taken classes at another Washington State community and technical college.

4. I am a continuing student who has taken classes at BCC... do I need to use the course change list to check to make sure I don't accidentally repeat the same course and continue reading the information?

Yes.

5. What does this mean to me as a student when choosing coursework for my degree or certificate?

If you have taken any BCC classes before summer 2008, it is very important for you to check the list of course changes to ensure you do not accidentally take the same course twice as result of the new course number/title changes.

6. How will I know when a course is part of the common course group?

The courses identified as common between community and technical colleges are denoted with a "&" behind the course prefix (for example, SPCH 200 is now CMST& 210). BCC has created a Course Change List which can be found in this pamphlet, quarterly class schedule, 08-09 catalog and online at: www.bellevuecommunitycollege.edu/ccn

Frequently Asked Questions

7. Does this affect how classes transfer to a university?

No. Common course numbers and titles were changed to simplify transferring between community and technical colleges; not between community/technical colleges and four-year colleges and universities. For example, UW will accept either Speech 200 or Communication Studies 210, but not both (SPCH 200 is now CMST& 210).

8. So I only have to check the Course Change List when I see a course number showing the “&” sign?

NO! As a result of common course numbering system, BCC had to change some other course numbers and titles that are NOT common among the state community/technical colleges. However, all BCC courses with changed course numbers and/or titles are clearly denoted on degree planning worksheets, quarterly course schedules and the college catalog, and throughout the college catalog. Please read these materials carefully before registering!

9. How will I know if a course number and/or title have changed?

BCC has created a master list of all courses that have changed (see pages 4-16). In addition, the degree and certificate planning sheets have a symbol (▲ and/or &) to alert you that the course has undergone a change.

Here are the symbols that you will see in the catalog and on degree and certificate planning worksheets to help identify course changes (or know when you need to use the course change list).

& – A common course identifier recognized among Washington State Community and Technical Colleges.

▲ – Course number and/or title change begins Summer 2008. Courses with previous number/title are still applicable.

10. What about courses that are not on the Course Change List? Do they still transfer?

Many courses not on the Course Change List continue to be considered transferable coursework under the Direct Transfer Agreement between community and technical colleges and universities.

NOTE: Unchanged BCC courses that were transferable prior to common course numbering continue to be transferable as always. In addition, courses that were not transferrable before the change still are not. It is recommended you check with the receiving institution as the transferability of individual courses is the sole prerogative of the receiving school.

11. How will this be reflected on my BCC transcript?

All classes taken prior to summer quarter 2008 will remain the same. Classes taken thereafter will use the new course number and/or title. You will see a message on your transcript to denote the beginning of the Common Course Numbering program as of summer quarter 2008.

12. Where can I get help or ask more questions?

If you have any questions or would like some assistance, please do not hesitate to contact the Educational Planning Advising Center at (425) 564-2212 or your advisor (if you need help locating your advisor, please call us and we will connect to your advisor).

13. Is this information available online?

Yes. To download this information, go to: www.bellevuecollege.edu/ccn

For information about the Common Course Numbering program, visit the State Board of Community and Technical Colleges site: http://www.sbctc.ctc.edu/collegee_common-coursenumbering.aspx

14. Does Common Course Numbering affect how I register online?

The online registration will not catch that the item number for a CCN class is for a class you have already taken under a another prefix or title. You must cross-reference CCN courses against the course change list.

Note: When using the online schedule planner, you will need to add the “&” to the common courses as they are listed in the schedule and catalog. For example, CMST&210 (not CMST 210).
