I Am Malala: The Girl Who Stood Up for Education and Was Shot by the Taliban

Join our faculty and students in reading

the BC Reads! selection

for the upcoming academic year: I Am Malala: The Girl Who Stood Up for Education and Was Shot by the Taliban. Ms. Yousafzai's fearless memoir, co-written with journalist Christina Lamb, is a powerful and uplifting story of courage and resilience. It begins Oct. 9, 2012, in the Swat Valley of Pakistan on her bus ride home from school when a Taliban gunman boarded and shot the petite 14 year old in the head and neck. Since her miraculous recovery, she has experienced an extraordinary journey from a remote valley in northern Pakistan to the halls of the United Nations in New York. At 16, she has become a global symbol of peaceful protest and the youngest nominee ever for the Nobel Peace Prize. Why was such a young girl targeted? At the age of 11, Ms. Yousafzai had taken on the Taliban. Her school had been shut down, so the petite schoolgirl spoke out about her passion for education and became a symbol of defiance against Taliban subjugation. She began to write an anonymous blog documenting her experiences for the BBC. Later, she was the focus of documentaries including the 2009 documentary by Adam Ellick, "Class Dismissed: Malala's Story." After the film was released, Ms. Yousafzai became even more bold. She hosted foreign diplomats in Swat, held news conferences on peace and education, and as a result, won national and international awards. Despite the attempt on her life and repeated threats from the Taliban, she continues to campaign for education. "I Am Malala" will demonstrate the power of one person's activism and reinforce your appreciation of American's right to free speech and access to education.

BC Reads! is sponsored annually by the Library Media Center. Instructors from many disciplines integrate each year's common book into student learning experiences.

BC introduces... FRIDAY-ONLY classes

What a difference a day makes!

Starting fall quarter, students can come to campus just on Friday and still earn up to 15 credits per quarter.

Friday-only courses are offered in a hybrid format to maximize students' time. This arrangement allows students to enjoy the benefits of both online and traditional learning.

Students can use these courses to build a one-day part-time schedule or arrange a full-time schedule in a way that works best for them. Students taking these one-day-a-week hybrid courses will participate in on-campus instruction on Fridays while staying connected with their instructors and fellow students online throughout the week.

For complete list of courses, see page 44.

Annual Student Art Exhibit Coming in June

Work by students in BC's art program will be on display June 4 through September 27 in the college's art gallery, Gallery Space, during the Bellevue College Annual Student Art Exhibit.

Pieces in this exhibit represent the best of this year's work as nominated by Art Department faculty. Nearly three dozen works by current Bellevue College student artists are in a variety of media, including photography, ceramics, sculpture, drawing, painting, and video. Events in the Gallery Space are always free and open to the public. Bellevue College is fortunate to offer coursework in drawing, design, darkroom and digital photography, printmaking, sculpture and metal fabrication, woodwork, painting, ceramics, and various special topics.

Among possible works to be selected for the exhibit is the student creation at right. It is a 72"x96" mixed media collage of charcoal, black ink, and black pastel titled "Inception." It is the work of student Juan Mendoza, created for his Drawing II, Art 121 class. The project assignment was "to do a life sized (or bigger) self-portrait from photographic information using three different medias (and or styles)," said art instructor Dale Lindman. Mendoza describes the art statement as "The beginning of a teenage premonition."

Gallery Space is located in room D271, above the Library Media Center on the main campus (3000 Landerholm Circle SE). Contact Chad White, Gallery Director, at chad.white@bellevuecollege.edu for an appointment or if you need special accommodations.

Refunds for College Withdrawal or Dropped Classes

If you withdraw from the college or drop classes, you may be eligible for a refund. The college begins to process refunds after the fifth day of classes. A processing fee is deducted from the refund amount. The amount refunded is based on your withdrawal or drop date for courses that begin the first week of the quarter. See calendar (p. 5) for deadlines for 100% and 50% refunds. Classes with alternate start and end dates are governed by a different refund policy. The information is available on the Enrollment Calendar at www.bellevuecollege.edu/enrollment/calendar/deadlines/. Visit www.bellevuecollege.edu/enrollment/tuition/ for more information about refunds.

Admission to or registration for classes, conferring of degrees, and issuance of academic transcripts may be withheld for failure to meet financial obligations to the college and may result in the account being sent to a collection service (BC

Combination Classes*ARTS & HUMANITIES DIVISION

The English Department's "combination classes" give students the opportunity to approach two topics at the same time to improve their skills and understanding of both. For example, in a 10-credit composition and literature combination, students read, discuss, analyze, and write about significant literary works. The Department recommends that students in combination classes have college-level placement unless otherwise specified.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION AND AMERICAN LITERATURE I • 10 CR

"What then is the American, this new man?" asks J. Hector St. John De Crevecoeur in Letters from an American Farmer. Crevecoeur's question, posed in 1783, continues to exert force in 21st-century America as we debate about immigration overhaul, an increasingly interconnected global economy and American foreign policies. How does early American literature set the scene and tone for how we understand American identity today? What bearings does early American literature have on contemporary American life? In our exploration of these questions in this class, we will read and write about the diverse voices of American literature from the earliest periods to 1865 that examine, conceptualize and contest what it means to be an American. We will develop an understanding of the connection between nation building, identity formation, and literary heritage. Specific attention will be paid to the marginalized voices of this period, including Native American oral traditions, slave narratives and women's writing.

Interdisciplinary StudiesARTS & HUMANITIES DIVISION

Interdisciplinary Studies combines the study of several subjects into one integrated course or "learning community," usually for ten or more credits. Each IDS course features a theme that forms a common thread across disciplines. The focus of these courses is you. Students learn with each other and from each other by discussing readings in small groups (seminars), taking part in group activities, and, in some courses, by taking field trips. These programs emphasize the process of learning as well as course content. The student centered, discussion-oriented format encourages and supports different points of view and creates a social climate that promotes collaborative learning.

Distance Education is Becoming eLearning!

We're rolling out a new name for our online class program. BC has offered Distance Education classes for several decades – since before the Internet! Our new name reflects the learning methods used today.

How to Get Started in Distance Ed/eLearning Classes

- 1. Apply for admission: If you are new to BC – at www.bellevuecollege.edu/enrollment/admissions/apply/credit/ or see page 4 for in-person instructions.
- 2. Register in person or online: www.bellevuecollege.edu/enrollment/registration/register/
You will see several code numbers in class descriptions:
 - O stands for Online
 - A, B, or C are section designators when there are multiple offerings of the same class.
 - S stands for state support.
 - For example, an OAS class is an Online class, section A, and State supported.
- 3. Pay fees:
 - A $52.50 Distance Ed/eLearning fee is added to the per-class cost for all classes. This fee covers hardware, software and licensing and maintenance fees for the online resources.
 - Additional course fees vary in Distance Ed/eLearning due to the wide variety of types of classes (such as those with a science lab), methods of distribution, costs of programming, and residency status.
 - If you are a US citizen/permanent resident requesting the online tuition discount, you must contact the Registrar's Office each quarter to have your tuition adjusted after registering for classes. Phone (425) 564-2222.
 - Check the website for details: www.bellevuecollege.edu/distance/tuition/
- 4. Buy your textbooks: Online from the BC Bookstore at bcc.collegestoreonline.com. Check the website for days and hours or call (425) 564-2285.
- 5. Log in to Canvas: www.bellevuecollege.edu/distance/classroom.asp
