UNIVERSAL DESIGN FOR LEARNING

ASSESSMENT

UDL TIP NUMBER 3

UDL Project at Bellevue College: http://bc.instructure.com/courses/867370

you can help ALL students improve learning.

Assessing Critical Thinking Across Disciplines

Tuesday, April 21 from 12:30 – 2:00pm in D104E

Almost all courses claim critical thinking as a major focus of the course. How is critical thinking applied in each academic discipline? Are there common elements of critical thinking across a group of disciplines? Why is it so difficult to assess? Please join us for a discussion of how critical thinking is currently being assessed in courses, and how faculty can get a gauge on students' critical thinking skills before and after they take your courses.

For more information, contact Carol Leffall, Faculty Assessment Coordinating Team Lead caroline.leffall@bellevuecollege.edu

INSTRUCTIONAL TECHNOLOGY AND LEARNING

prof·dev HOURS

Teaching with Canvas: Canvas 101

Ongoing facilitated online instruction.

Starts April 6th and runs through June 12th

Canvas 101 is perfect for new online instructors and modular so that instructors with varied backgrounds and experience can select the learning modules that best apply to their needs. This online based workshop is intended to introduce instructors to the available tools in Canvas. It is self-paced, project-based, and guided—a facilitator will be available to answer questions and to evaluate participant projects. The work is designed to be completed within one academic term or less, and should require approximately 22 total hours to complete. This course assumes that you possess basic computing skills: that you can input text into a computer, that you are familiar with basic computer file and folder organization, that you can operate a web browser, and that you can save, upload and download files. If you do not have these skills, you will need to acquire them before you register. Enrollment is ongoing but capped at 20 participants.

Upon completion of and participation in all portions of the workshop, you will earn a Certificate of Completion validating 22 hours of Professional Development!

To register please go to: https://adobeformscentral.com/?f=Lqe11w1Enr11ykZlJDZX1Q

For more information, contact Bruce Wolcott, IBIT, bwolcott@bellevuecollege.edu

Online Teaching Best Practices

Every Tuesday, starting April 14th through June 16th 11:00am–12:30pm D104E

Discover how to be a more effective online educator. This pedagogy workshop focuses on investigating current best practices in teaching online/hybrid courses. Discussions and exercises center on topics such as effective course navigation, universal design, accessible content, copyright and fair use, effective discussions and assessments, diversity and equity in online learning, and keeping up with the future of online education. The workshop will be organized as a seminar, with each meeting focused around particular topics. Most sessions will allow time for both discussion of the topic and time for presentation of redeveloped course material examples. This is NOT an introductory workshop on how to set up your first course online. This workshop is for instructors who have some experience teaching hybrid or online. To learn how to use Canvas tools, take the Teaching with Canvas: Canvas 101 instead.

Stipend: $400 for all faculty members upon completion of, and participation in, all portions of the workshop. Stipends funded by Information Resources and the Faculty Commons. Enrollment is limited to 10 participants through a short application process. Applicants are selected based on a variety of factors. Application Deadline is March 31. Notification of acceptance will be sent by April 3.

Speed Canvasing for Online Instructors – Casual Discussions

Fridays, April 24th and May 22nd 12:30–1:30pm in D104E

Would you like to exchange tips and strategies with other online instructors? Join us in this informal, collaborative session. Instructors will work in pairs, with their Canvas sites open on our recently acquired Surfaces! Share your successes and your challenges, we can learn from each other! After 10 minutes, everyone will switch to a new partner. This will allow participants to make connections with several other online instructors and get new ideas for their online teaching. Come to one or both sessions.

Remote Access available, make your selection in the registration form.

BOOK DISCUSSIONS

Introduction to Philosophy Discussion Group

Every Tuesday, starting April 7th through June 16th Time: 2:00–3:00pm in D104H

This group will read an open source text for PHIL 101 and discuss the application of critical thinking and ethics to their disciplines. These discussions will generate ideas on how to help students develop good argumentation strategies. It will also allow collaboration among participants to improve faculty's ability to address philosophical issues that come up in their own classes. Interested in fostering renewal and vibrancy into your class? Don't miss this opportunity!

Discussion Group – Let's Talk About Students: 'Tomayto, Tomahto'

Join us! It will broaden your frame of reference.

Two sessions in May 2015, TBD, D104

This brown-bag series is focused on the student experience through their perspective. Two graduate students from the University of Washington who have followed the same trajectory, but through very different cultural lenses will host the series. They will discuss issues of student development and brainstorming ways for students to interact and collaborate regardless of their background. The series will also act as an open forum for faculty to connect with each other and share their classroom experiences working in diverse classroom environments.

Snacks and refreshments will be provided.
