

SPRING 2016

SCHEDULE

Dear Faculty,

How exciting it is to be in the field of education! Education and knowledge transcend time, evolve, and empower. It is said that if you invest one hour a day studying your field, you could become an expert in approximately five years. Why would you want to do that? For a number of reasons:

1. In today's society, as you increase your knowledge, you could potentially increase your income. As Brian Tracy, author of No Excuses! The Power of Self-discipline states, "In the twenty-first century, there is a premium on knowledge and skill. The more knowledge you acquire and the greater skill that you apply, the more competent and valuable you become. As you get better at what you do, your income-earning ability increases – like compound interest."
2. The more you know, the more you can empower others. If increasing your income is not your thing, how about sharing what you know to help others. Many accomplished professionals like to teach because they know others can benefit from their experience. And, it is fascinating to know you are passing on your knowledge to future generations, particularly, to individuals with limited resources.
3. As you acquire knowledge, you are building a stronger character. As you develop the self-discipline to study, research, experiment and practice, you learn that true knowledge is acquired through hard work and dedication. That, the Path of Least Resistance – cutting corners, taking the easy way – just doesn't work. As a result, most gain understanding on setting priorities and the wisdom to engage in activities that bring value to their lives.

In an attempt to support you in your professional development efforts, we are excited to offer you a variety of workshops and activities, from which, BC faculty can learn from each other. In this program, you will find a list of workshops, series of discussions, BC administrator's office hours, wellness activities and a few teaching tips. We hope you find our programming helpful and informative.

As always, we welcome your feedback. We are looking forward to working with all of you to become exceptional educators.

May you have a phenomenal spring 2016!

Tracy, B. (2010). No excuses: The power of self-discipline. New York: Vanguard Press.

FACULTY COMMONS

Spring Office Hours:

Monday – Friday

9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

ADJUNCT FACULTY WORKSHOP

Mark your calendars! Adjunct faculty workshop

Thursday, April 21st, 10:30 a.m. -12:20 p.m. in D104H

This interactive and informative workshop is tailored to help adjunct faculty understand how to maintain good standing in their programs, get promoted, and obtain annual/multi-annual contracts based on their rights and responsibilities according to the contract. We will explore ways faculty can support students through an introduction to various campus resources. We will identify opportunities for adjunct faculty to get involved in governance by understanding the current and proposed governance structure of the college. Light Refreshments will be available.

A $75 stipend from the Office of Instruction is available to faculty upon completion of the orientation evaluation.

Register today!

SUMMER PROPOSALS WANTED!

Have an idea for a pedagogical, curriculum or professional development opportunity for faculty and need implementation support?

The Faculty Commons sets aside funding each quarter to support your ideas and can provide space, marketing, networking, registration tools, recruitment, assessment, pedagogical and curricular advice and more. We are looking for ideas that create community, inform practices and that can be disseminated across programs and divisions.

Programming can include workshops, speakers series, best practices sharing, book discussions and your best ideas. Ideas both big and small are welcome!

The Faculty Commons Council will support as many proposals as possible, focusing particularly on those that fulfill the mission of the Faculty Commons.

Please your proposal by Sunday, May 8, 2016 for Faculty Commons Council Review.

Submit today!

http://bcfacultycommons.formstack.com/forms/summer2016_proposal_for_fundedprogram

Not sure what to include in your proposal? Please contact Sayumi Irey, Faculty Commons Director, or Tabitha Kirkland, Chair - Faculty Commons Council for more information.

ASSESSMENT, TEACHING & LEARNING

Large World, Small Classroom: Going Global Without Leaving Bellevue College – Workshop

Thursday, April 28 11:00 – 12:30 in D104E

The office of International Education and Global Initiatives and the Office of Instruction are collaborating in this interactive session to help faculty think through how to create a global experience in their on campus (or online) classes. The session will focus on selection of materials as well as activities (in and out of class) that faculty can incorporate to globalize their curriculum. Additional topics will include how to integrate global events into your classroom (regardless of discipline) and provide culturally sensitive context for integration into student learning. Participants in this workshop will:

- Generate ideas for globalization of the curriculum in classes they teach
- Be able to debrief global experiences to further student understanding
- Identify partners and resources for collaboration on curriculum

This is a new workshop! Register soon!

Teaching Strategies for Student Success - Hybrid workshop

Fridays, April 22, 29, May 20 and June 3 1:00 – 2:30 p.m. in D104H

Take this workshop a) in person or b) synchronously online

Do you have students who regularly don't come to class, don't complete homework and do other things that are detrimental to their success in your classes? In this 15 hour workshop, you will learn why these behaviors occur and how, through Transformational Learning Theory, Growth Mindset, Scaffolding, Universal Design for Learning and Student Success Outcomes you can reduce the behaviors and improve student success.

This workshop meets face to face 6 hours during the quarter and has 9 hours of online activities. Such activities include watching videos, discussions with other participants, and writing reflective pieces. There is a final project of creating an online presentation (using Microsoft Mix) describing the course changes you will make to a course of your choice based on what was learned in the workshop. Anticipated work outside of the 15 hours is an additional 5 – 10 hours.

Upon completion of at least 85% of the material you are eligible to receive a $400 stipend. All work will be due by June 17th to allow for stipend processing. Stipends are funded through Faculty Commons.

This workshop fills up quickly, register early!

Writing for Publication

Mondays, April 11, 25, May 9, 23 & June 6, 3:00 – 4:30 p.m. in D104

Creative writing workshop for all faculty who love to write. Participants can attend sessions or participate online. Discussion topics include how to start writing, writing for story, breakthrough writing, form editing, line editing and getting published. We will bring in top experts as needed.

Published writers encouraged to attend individual sessions to share your expertise. Let's develop a community writers who support each other!

Introduction to Data Science with R: How to Manipulate, Visualize, and Model Data with the R Language.

Tuesdays, April 12, 19, 26, May 3, 10 & 17. 1:00 – 2:20 p.m. in D104H

Are you interested in how to explore and understand student success data? Are you interested in learning one of the widely used statistical computing language, R, with RStudio, a free and friendly open source integrated development environment (IDE)?

There are three skill sets of data science covered in this workshop: computer programming (with R), manipulating data sets (including loading, cleaning, and visualizing data), and modeling data with statistical methods. You'll get plenty of hands-on experience with R, including R's syntax and grammar, how to load, save, and transform data, generate beautiful graphs, fit statistical models, and find factors that may affect student success.

This hybrid workshop is divided into 6 modules, each with online activities (such as reading handout, lab activities, and exercises) which you should complete prior to the meeting/discussion session, and weekly face to face discussions with participants from other disciplines (for interchanging your thoughts and findings from working on the provided sample student success data). The total estimated workload depends on your familiarity with computer programming, statistical analysis, and your ambition on how much data and hypotheses you want to tackle. A user with average computer and statistics knowledge should expect to spend 3-5 hours per module.

Stipend: $100 available for all faculty attending all sessions.

SOCIAL JUSTICE AND SUSTAINABILITY

Educational Equity Workshop

Tuesdays, April 12-June 14, 12:30-3:30 p.m. in D104H

This workshop is intended for faculty to learn about and implement principles of educational equity and social justice in the classroom and broaden faculty understanding of their own social positions/identities as they affect behaviors in the classroom and relationships with students.

Stipend: $1,000 for all faculty members attending all sessions and upon completion of, and participation in, all portions of the workshop. Stipends are funded by the Office of Equity and Pluralism. Enrollment is limited to 28 participants. All faculty who have not previously taken the Educational Equity Workshop are eligible to take the workshop this quarter. In the event that more than 28 faculty who are eligible to sign up, the faculty who have held tenure for more than 10 years will receive priority.

DISCUSSIONS

Reflection Discussion Group

Mondays, April 11, 25, May 9 & 23
12:30 – 1:30 in D104H

This is an opportunity to learn about how reflection can improve student success by supporting students to become self-regulated learners.

All are welcome to attend these discussions

For more info about the discussion group contact Mandie Mauldin Nash, mandie.nash@bellevuecollege.edu

This discussion group is sponsored by the Consortium to Promote Reflection in Engineering Education (CPREE). CPREE is a grant funded by The Helmsley Charitable Trust; all teaching disciplines are welcome to participate in the grant activities at Bellevue College.

RISE Learning Institute for Faculty: Brown Bag Sessions

Date: TBD

Many classes at Bellevue College have a service learning component, in which students do a community service project as part of their class work. The service is integrated with class instruction and focuses on critical, reflective thinking and civic responsibility.

Come & Meet Dr. Gita Bangera, Dean of Undergraduate Research and learn how to integrate Research, Service or Experiential Learning tied to the learning outcomes.

MENTORING

Drop-In mentoring for adjunct faculty

Wednesdays, April 6 – June 8 11:30 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. in D104G

Do you have questions or concerns about what's happening in your classroom, the department, the division, or more broadly across the college campus? This is a time and space dedicated to mentor and support part-time faculty. Participants will be directed to available campus resources where appropriate. Another purpose of these drop-in hours is to assess faculty's mentoring needs to help shape a more formalized mentoring program for part-time faculty. Drop in when you need and when you can!

For more information, please contact Grace Robbins, Faculty Commons Mentoring Program Lead, grace.robbs@bellevuecollege.edu

Spring Quarter Teaching Squares

Teaching squares provide faculty at any stage in their career an opportunity to gain new insight into their own teaching through a non-evaluative process of reciprocal classroom observation and self-reflection. The four faculty in each "square" agree to visit one another's classes over the course of a quarter and then to meet to discuss what they've learned. The purpose of a Teaching Square is to open up new spaces for reflection and conversation about teaching. The schedule for the quarter is determined by the square members with a total of 5 or 6 hours per quarter which includes at minimum) a planning meeting for the square, attending the courses of other square members and a final reflection and feedback meeting.

Teaching Squares are limited to 20 faculty members (5 squares). You can create your own square and register each member of the group, or you can register individually and you will be put in a group. Stipend: $150 funded by Faculty Commons

Register today!

INSTRUCTIONAL TECHNOLOGY AND LEARNING

Teaching with Canvas: Canvas 101

Ongoing facilitated online instruction starts on May 9th runs through June 17th

Canvas 101 is an excellent choice for new as well as more experienced instructors. This online based workshop is divided into 6 self-contained modules that acquaint you with primary features of the Canvas Learning Management System. It is self-paced, project-based, and guided--a facilitator will be available to answer questions and to evaluate participant projects. The work is designed to be completed within one academic term or less, and should require approximately 22 total hours to complete. This course assumes that you possess basic computing skills: that you can input text into a computer, that you are familiar with basic computer file and folder organization, that you can operate a web browser, and that you can save, upload and download files. If you do not have these skills, you will need to acquire them before you register. Enrollment is ongoing but capped at 20 participants.

PLEASE NOTE: All faculty signing up for the Canvas 101 course are required to complete the Faculty Canvas Orientation quiz, before starting the class. You will also need to have access to your faculty Canvas "sandbox" site. More information can be found at: <http://depts.bellevuecollege.edu/helpdesk/kb/5978/>

Upon completion of and participation in all portions of the workshop, you will earn a Certificate of Completion validating 22 hours of Professional Development!

Online Teaching Best Practices

Tuesdays, April 12 – June 7, 11:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. D104E

Take this workshop a) in person or b) synchronously online

Discover how to be a more effective online educator.

This pedagogy workshop focuses on investigating current best practices in teaching online/hybrid courses. Discussions and exercises center on topics such as effective course navigation, universal design, accessible content, copyright and fair use, effective discussions and assessments, diversity and equity in online learning, and keeping up with the future of online education. The workshop will be organized as a seminar, with each meeting focused around particular topics. Most sessions will allow time for both discussion of the topic and time for presentation of redeveloped course material examples.

This is NOT an introductory workshop on how to set up your first course online. This workshop is for instructors who have some experience teaching hybrid or online. To learn how to use Canvas tools, take the Teaching with Canvas: Canvas 101 instead.

Stipend: $400 for all faculty members upon completion of, and participation in, all portions of the workshop. Stipends funded by Faculty Commons. Enrollment is limited to 10 participants through a short application process. Applicants are selected based on a variety of factors.

Creating Interactive Course Content with SoftChalk

Wednesdays, April 13, 20, 27, and May 4 12:30 – 2:00 p.m. in D104E

Join us in this hand-on workshop to learn how easy it can be to use SoftChalk Create. Faculty who participate in this workshop will learn to use SoftChalk to enhance their Canvas course sites, and to improve the learning experience for students. SoftChalk Create can be used to add interactivity, self-check quizzes, and provide professional, engaging content. Content created using SoftChalk Create can be embedded into Canvas in a variety of ways, and has the ability to integrate with the Canvas grade book. Attendees will receive a one-year SoftChalk license.

Stipend: $100 for all faculty attending all sessions.

Instructional Design Office Hours

Jim Dicus, Instructional Designer, holds office hours at Faculty Commons to help instructors design their Canvas sites, based on the most effective instructional design and Universal Design for Learning (UDL) principles. Both new to online/hybrid teaching and experienced instructors are welcome!

Jim assists instructors with course design strategies as they relate to pedagogical delivery of content. These strategies work not only for online and hybrid courses, but also, for web-enhanced courses.

Will you be teaching an online or hybrid course next quarter? Schedule an appointment with Jim today! https://bcfacultycommons.formstack.com/forms/instructional_design

Teaching Tip

- Get a free Canvas shell through instructure.com to use for practice.

Participants in "Bring your child to work day".

We heard you! We now have games available. Invite your colleagues to play chess or scrabble

Teaching Tip

"Build community and establish rapport by learning your students' names with a name game! Here's how I do it: (1) everyone stands in a circle, (2) the first person to go says their name preceded by a word that starts with the same letter as their first name (e.g., Talkative Tabitha), (3) the next person repeats the first person's word & name (Talkative Tabitha), then adds their own (Daring Denise), (4) the third person repeats the first two, then adds theirs (Caring Carlos), etc. I always have the person next to me start so that I go last and have to say everyone's names. It'll take about 30-40 minutes to do depending on the size of your class. I always learn every student's name by the end of the first week of classes!"

Provided by Dr. Tabitha Kirkland, psychology department.
