

Angkana Artsabaeng

12/15/2021

INDES220 Studio Exercise 10-Sustainability Civic Engagement Poster.

Angkana Artsabaeng

12/15/2021

INDES220 Studio Exercise 10-Sustainability Civic Engagement Poster.

1. What personal strengths did you demonstrate through the Community-Engaged & Civic Education (CECE) component to this course? How were they demonstrated?

Community-Engaged & Civic Education (CECE ) There are many ways for students and faculty to engage with the community and civic issues. Both as part and separate from classes, the Community-Engaged & Civic Education (CECE) program supports teachers, students, and programs to connect with the community while At the college, focusing solely on non-profit organizations, the government, and civil society. And can help guest speakers, volunteer service opportunities, and more.

2. What did you learn about yourself in the process of doing the CECE component to the course? How did you grow? If comfortable, share a story from the class that demonstrates this personal learning or growth.

Citizen participation In cooperating with others to improve the community by any political or non-political means or civic status who want to improve the quality of life in the community and feel that they can play an active role in making that happen. The word community improves, I think. In this class, mentoring or commenting on a friend's work allows us to participate in thinking and decision making and using ideas to make the work of a friend better and more efficient.

3. Describe one way in which the Community-Engaged & Civic Education (CECE) component helped you succeed in learning and/or applying the course content.

One way in which the Community-Engaged & Civic Education (CECE) component helped me succeed in learning and/or applying the course content is participation and role in helping the community or the environment It's an important part that I think is very helpful. It reminded me of others and was more willing to help or advise others. Also, make the most profit for customers without profit.

4. How satisfied would the partner organization/client be with your engagement or your final deliverable? Why? If no partner or client, how did the broader community benefit from your engagement?

I will give community members a place to express themselves, Segment your user base for epic community development, and bring your social media following into your own closed community

5. If you were to do the Community-Engaged & Civic Learning (CECE) component again, what would you do differently? Why?

If I were to do the Community-Engaged & Civic Learning (CECE) component again, what would I do differently? No, I wouldn't do this differently. because I like this process I think it is very helpful for the community and society. It allows all people to play a role in society.