

Coffeehouse/Social Justice Hub

Interlock

Is to become locked together or to intersect and interconnect

Disability Justice relating to the Design Concept Designing a public space like a coffee hub, in a high traffic area like a college campus, it's very important to clearly define paths of travel, have a logic layout that is easy to understand and people feel safe in, and use a good contrast to make it easier for everyone to see clearly. I have reached this goal by:
 Avoiding tight hallways. Use clear signage. Use good contrast (mainly with wood)

Sustainability Strategies
 Certified materials and products
 Green Manufacturing Process
 Contributes to LEED
 Recycled Content
 100% landfilled
 No or low VOC
 Low Emitting