POV

Since I was young, I have always loved to be in nature. I have never been a fan of tearing something down to build something less organic and less beautiful. As time has gone on, organic architecture has gotten more popular due to climate change and our desire to help save the earth. I have never liked the idea of being locked indoors, confined to a room with four walls. Bringing the outside in and feeling transformed to feel nature indoors is how I choose to express the design of any space. When building organic and green you get to bring back what was taken away in a new way.

Intent

To build a space of transformation, of being inside but feeling like you are outside; of comfort and relaxation in the midst of fast-paced modern life. Asymmetry, Emphasis, and Abstraction will express and achieve this.

Vehicle

A spa based on the presense of organic architecure. Based on the needs of relaxation. With many ammenities and greenery around to make you feel trasn-formed into a new place through quietude.
