Since the TELOS program began in 1976, the oak tree has been its distinctive symbol. Telos is the Greek word (τέλος) meaning ‘fulfillment.’ And that’s what the TELOS program offers: an engaging community where adults can fulfill their continuing desire to learn and grow.

TELOS presents a broad range of classes to meet a wide variety of interests. The atmosphere is intellectually stimulating and supportive. Classes are small and informal. Students and faculty interact as peers, making learning a creative exchange of ideas. Many students form lasting friendships.

At TELOS the emphasis is on education and growth, not measuring performance. There are no entrance requirements, grades or tests.

Egyptian Voices: The Middle Kingdom

The Middle Kingdom was a time of prosperity, peace and long-reigning kings, but also a time in which the role and status of the king was diminished, and the Egyptians were forced to become more cognizant of their neighbors. The language reached its highpoint and literature flourished as did arts and crafts, and sculpture. This course will review the classic period of Egyptian history by looking at the archaeological evidence found in architecture, literature and art. Fee: $89

Roots of Rock & Roll: 1940s–50s

Take a fascinating, informative and entertaining journey with Bay Area broadcaster John Jensen as we seek the roots of rock. You'll hear great music, see rare film and video clips while examining the legacies of the pioneers who contributed greatly to this popular music genre. You'll hear how Rhythm and Blues, Gospel, and Country intersected during that first decade and became the bedrock of Rock n' Roll. Along the way, we'll hear the musicians, the singers, the guy and girl groups, the personal stories and the influence of radio, television and big business. You'll play 50s rock trivia, hear rare studio sessions and see how the music impacted American culture during those early days. Fee: $89

Women Who Changed Literature

Through most of recorded history, women's social and professional roles were limited, and boundaries were strictly enforced. Penalties for women's participation in politics and the arts were severe. Overcoming these boundaries was a long and arduous process and literature by both sexes helped change perceptions of women and open doors for them. Through lectures and discussions of passages in the works of Shakespeare, the Bronte sisters, Thomas Hardy, Toni Morrison, and others, class participants will explore the ways in which literature re-envisioned women and in doing so, changed their lives. Japanese Cinema—Post World War II

Japanese cinema has a history that spans more than 100 years and has one of the oldest and largest film industries in the world. But it was after the end of World War II that Japanese film and directors gained world-wide notice and recognition, producing such great films as Rashomon, The Magnificent Seven, Late Spring and many others. This course will focus on the very best movies and directors that emerged from the debris of post-war Japan, including such filmmakers as Kurosawa, Ozu, Mizoguchi and Ichikawa. Expert lectures combined with informative film clips will make for an unforgettable experience. Fee: $89

Three Meetings Changed Our World

World War II was the deadliest conflict in history. At the epicenter were three men who were suspicious of each other. President Roosevelt did not know Stalin and Stalin viewed Roosevelt with interest. Roosevelt did not trust Churchill because he didn't like empires and Great Britain was the greatest empire the world had ever seen. Churchill didn't fully trust Roosevelt because he knew that Roosevelt had a political situation at home where many people were opposed to American involvement in the war.

This course highlights crucial war time decisions and the complex relationships between nations and, in particular, three individuals.

Take a deeper look into the personalities that shaped the world we live in today. Recreated in an interactive, fact-based presentation and delivered with energy, commitment and fun. Fee: $89
