Course Description

Welcome! You are enrolled in Introductory Sociology. This class has been structured to expose you to the human social condition, and develop a useful way to think critically about the world around you. Themes include: power dynamics, culture, the development of self in society, deviance, stereotyping, and/or the social construction of knowledge.

Learning Objectives

After participating, discussing and completing this course, a successful student will demonstrate, identify and apply:

- A general understanding of basic concepts most widely used in sociology today. We will review some of the "classics" in sociology as well as exploring the recent move toward cultural studies.
- A critical idea of society and community, including where in your social landscape you live, and how you observe those around you.
- A general knowledge and comprehension of how social, political, and cultural forms of power are played out, and how some folks perceive those experiences.
- The ways in which culture and social situations such as education, economy, media and family shape our everyday experiences.

Learning Experiences

A typical weekly schedule is as follows:

Tuesdays:

STUDENT LED SEMINAR- We will create a democratic classroom that embodies what Bell Hooks calls, “breaking through the false construction of the corporate university as set apart from real life and seeking to re-envision schooling as always, as part of our real world experience, and our real life”. This group seminar will focus on the week’s reading assignment. Students will use weekly reflection papers as discussion starters. You are required to participate each week by engaging in dialogue with peers and instructor.

LECTURE- We will dive into what Paulo Friere has labeled the “problem posing approach”. That is, learning how to question the dominant society by exploring themes like cross-cultural inclusion, pluralistic perspectives, social justice, personal empowerment, de-marginalization, and appropriate leadership in reform activities. We will examine a variety of material and:

- 1) dissect the values and ideologies inherent in the material
- 2) critique the authors’ bias and attitudes
- 3) dig for omissions and question the reasoning behind them

We will turn the status quo upside down by analyzing common practices such as education, health care and the economy; looking for ways in which such practices enable the very problems they are supposed to be solving.

Thursdays:

PEER INQUIRY GROUP- We will form think tanks centered on grappling the more difficult course material. One consequence of the western emphasis on individualization is isolation. This isolation breeds a lack of attention to the condition of those around us. Eventually we come to see our problems as our own, unrelated to those of any other. This condition eats away at our ability develop to and use COMPASSION. We will begin group projects by learning how to use COMPASSION as a tool. All group work will have a peer review component.

ASSESSMENT PORTFOLIO- Standardized testing rarely assesses real learning, therefore; there will be no final exams in this class. The assessment portfolio will effectively serve as your final exam. Possible assessment pieces include but are not limited to: self-reflection journals, multiple choice quizzes, interviews, content quizzes and short answer essays. More will be explained about this in class.

Out of Class HYBRID Assignment:

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT- By immersing yourself in another culture, your own belief system will come into question. You may extract some understanding about yourself that lends benefit to your own life. You will engage in participant observation in local communities with whom you are not already familiar. You will apply first-hand, the skills we’ve practiced in class regarding sniffing out hidden cultural values and biases embedded in any given society’s structures of oppression (every society has them!). For some of you, this feeling of “otherness” may be all too familiar. It can be comforting to realize that everyone becomes “the other” at some point or in some situation in their lives. All community engagement will include a service component.

Assignments

- Weekly Seminar Reflection Papers. Complete each week's reading before the Tuesday of that week. Write a 1-2 page summary/reflection paper. Include a summary paragraph AND a personal reflection paragraph for each chapter assigned, as well as two questions you have from the reading. Personal reflection means relating themes and key terms to your own life. See example WR Paper for ideas. You WILL be called on in class to comment on the readings. Prepare something to say!
Papers are due IN HARD COPY at the beginning of class every Tuesday.
- Community Engagement Project. Conduct a significant project during the quarter. Spend a minimum of 1 hour in an unfamiliar cultural environment practicing participant observation, as well as 9 hours in service to the same community. Project examples will be provided in class. Document your work in a three page paper and include one visual aid. Project must be approved in advance with the instructor.
Projects will be presented in class during Week 9.
- Anonymous Peer Reviews. At the end of the quarter you will assign grades to the other members of your Peer Inquiry Group according to their demonstrations of compassion, collaboration and contribution during Student-Led Seminars. Only the professor will read these reviews. They are anonymous for all students. Peer reviews will hold 10% of your final quarter grade weight.
Peer Reviews will be written IN CLASS during Week 11.
- Assessment Portfolio. Choose from a list of deliverables to demonstrate your knowledge. Based on these choices, turn in a variety of assessment pieces in an organized portfolio. While this course focuses on skills, we also learn theoretical principles related to sociology in general. You will be tested over that information. Tests will include both objective (i.e., multiple choice, true false, matching) and subjective (i.e., short answer and essay) questions. This portfolio will serve effectively as your final exam.
Portfolios are due on the last day of class.

Assessment criteria

| Assignment | Points | Grade Percentage |
|------------------------------|--------------|------------------|
| 10 Weekly Reflection Papers | 200 | (20%) |
| Community Engagement | 300 | (30%) |
| Anonymous Peer Reviews | 100 | (10%) |
| Assessment Portfolio | 200 | (20%) |
| Participation/Punctuality | 200 | (20%) |
| Total Points Possible | 1,000 | (100%) |

A standard grading scale (100%-90% = A, 89%-80% = B, 79%-70% = C, 69%-60% = D, and below 60% = F) will be used in the class.

Course Requirements

Accountability: Come to class every day and on time. Credits may be denied for repeat tardiness, or failure to attend classes. You should be looking at your syllabus on a weekly basis so you know what is expected of you in class. You are expected to read the material and complete weekly reflection papers prior to class. All assignments are time sensitive, so no late work will be accepted. Assignments must be turned in complete and on time to receive points. If you know you are going to be absent for a class you can send your assignment in with a classmate. For this reason I urge you to get the contact information of several people in your class in the first week of the quarter. Shit happens, be prepared!

Contribution: This class requires maximum participation. Note that 20% of your final grade is based on participation. This means you will have many opportunities to ask and answer questions, volunteer your well thought-out discussion contributions, comment based on the readings and in general, be an active, vocal participant in class. Please come to class well rested, and ready to roll your sleeves up and get involved.

Integrity: in-teg-ri-ty –noun: adherence to moral and ethical principles; soundness of moral character; honesty. I expect your behavior in our classroom be respectful. Continued disrespectful behavior may result in your being asked to leave, and your grade lowered. Electronic devices are not allowed without permission. If I see them, they will be mine!

Compassion: In studying a subject as dynamic as sociology, the necessity to make choices among conflicting values is bound to arise and to generate ethical dilemmas. Since sociologists examine just about every aspect of the social world, we will sometimes talk about provocative material in class. Please be advised that when we explore controversial topics, they will be framed in an academic context. Topics run the gamut in sociology and at times there may be material that makes people uncomfortable. Keep in mind that when we find ourselves in a space outside of our comfort zone, it's an opportunity for learning. You may be confronted with subject matter that is difficult to watch, see, discuss or listen to. You are free to leave the room at any time, but please know you will be responsible for any course material you may have missed while you were gone. Your responsibilities are to follow the ground rules for class discussions and use compassion in conversation (especially when passionate, frustrated, or angry) during presentations, seminars and group work. When differences do present themselves, I will always invite students to consider the possibility that there is more than one right answer.

Honesty: Plagiarism means taking another's work and citing it as your own. Cheating is dishonest and fraudulent. If you are caught plagiarizing, you risk automatic loss of course credit. Refer to Bellevue College's website for more details.

*If you have any questions about anything relevant to sociology, please email me. When you email me using my BCC EMAIL, ALWAYS put in the SUBJECT LINE the following in the order: SOC101 – YOUR NAME – SUBJECT

For example: SOC101 – Jane Doe – Question about chapter 2

General Guidelines for Written Work

1. Typed in Times New Roman, 12 point font, double-spaced, with one inch margins on all sides, and stapled.
2. Your work must be cited in MLA style and you must always give proper credit to the texts from which you draw and from.
3. Title pages and bibliographies are not counted in final page count.
4. Student information is at the top left of the page, single spaced.
5. There are no extra spaces between paragraphs. Paragraphs contain no less than four sentences.
6. Magazines, newspapers, journals, and books are italicized.
7. Movie titles, article titles, song titles, etc. are "in quotation marks".
8. Quotes inside of a quotation use 'single quotation marks'.

For all of your written work: Submit proofread work only. Work not proofread will be returned once for a rewrite, and expected to be handed in within 48 hours. If you need help writing or proofreading, please make use of the following student support services:

Bellevue College's Rules and Regulations:

- Incomplete: If a student fails to complete all the required work for a course, an instructor may assign the grade of Incomplete ("I"). The student must complete the coursework by the end of the next quarter, or receive the assigned letter grade (usually an "F").
- F Grade: Students who fail a course will receive a letter grade of "F."
- Final Examination Schedule: The Social Science Division will adhere to the final examination schedule as stated in the BC Schedule. Final examinations will be held at the end of each quarter at fixed times. Instructors will not give examinations in advance of the regular schedule. A student who is absent from any examination held at any time during the quarter may forfeit the right to make up the examination. If, for illness or some other circumstance beyond the student's control, the student is unable to be present at any scheduled examination and has contacted the instructor on a timely basis, the student may be permitted to take such examination at a time designated by the instructor.
- Withdrawal from Class: College policy states that students must formally withdraw from a class by the end of the seventh week of the quarter (Registration Office, B125). If a student has not withdrawn by that date, an appropriate letter grade will be assigned for the course.
- Hardship Withdrawal: Instructors may assign the grade of "HW" (hardship withdrawal) at their discretion in the event that a student cannot complete the coursework due to extreme and exceptional circumstances. Students may also contact the Enrollment Services office BEFORE grades are assigned in cases of hardship.
- Cheating, Stealing and Plagiarizing: Cheating, stealing and plagiarizing (using the ideas or words of another as one's own without crediting the source) and inappropriate/disruptive classroom behavior are violations of the Student Code of Conduct at Bellevue College. Examples of unacceptable behavior include, but are not limited to: talking out of turn, arriving late or leaving early without a valid reason, allowing cell phones/pagers to ring, and inappropriate behavior toward the instructor or classmates. The instructor can refer any violation of the Student Code of Conduct to the Dean of Student Services for possible probation or suspension from Bellevue College. Specific student rights, responsibilities and appeal procedures are listed in the Student Code of Conduct, available in the office of the Dean of Student Services. If you are accused of cheating, stealing exams and/or plagiarism, there is a Bellevue College Student Discipline and Appeals Procedure (the right to due process) which you may pursue. Contact the office of Division Chair (D110), the Dean of Student Services (B231A) or the Associated Student Body (C212) for information regarding the appeals process.
- Students Who Require Disability Accommodations: Students with disabilities who have accommodation needs are encouraged to meet with the Disability Resource Center (DRC) office located in B132 (telephone 425.564.2498 or TTY 425.564.4110), to establish their eligibility for accommodation. The DRC office will provide each eligible student with an accommodation letter. Students who require accommodation in class should review the DRC accommodation letter with each instructor during the first week of the quarter. Students with mobility challenges who may need assistance in case of an emergency situation or evacuation should register with Disability Resource Center, and review those needs with the instructor as well.

- Distribution of Grades: Grades will not be posted in the Social Science Division or in faculty offices, and secretaries will not give out grades. Students should access their grades through the BC Web site.
- Return of Papers and Tests: Paper and/or Scantron score sheet returns will be arranged in the following ways ONLY: by mail, if student supplies the instructor with stamped, self-addressed envelope (with appropriate postage); or by the instructor designating a time and place whereby the student may retrieve his/her papers. Unclaimed papers and/or Scantron score sheets must be kept by the instructor for a minimum of sixty (60) instructional days following the end of the quarter.

Students with Disabilities:

All students are responsible for all requirements of the class, but the way they meet these requirements may vary. If you need specific academic accommodations due to a disability, please speak with me and with the Disability Resource Center at (425)564-2498. You will need to obtain the appropriate documentation from the DRC in room B132. The disability accommodation documentation must be given to me before it is needed rather than afterward, so that we can make appropriate arrangements. You will need to make arrangements with the DRC in advance for test-taking or other accommodations.
