6. Apply critical thinking to assumptions, claims and common sense ideas about behavior.
7. Demonstrate the application of psychological principles and findings to one's own life.

GENERAL EDUCATION OUTCOMES:

This course meets the following General Education outcomes:

1. Critical Thinking, Creativity, and Problem Solving (2)
2. Cultural Diversity (2)

A NOTE ABOUT COURSE CONTENT:

Since Introduction to Psychology examines literally every aspect of the individual, this course will discuss some provocative material. Please be advised that when controversial topics are explored, they will be framed within an academic context. Keep in mind that finding oneself in a space outside of one's comfort zone is an opportunity for learning. Students may be confronted with subject matter that is difficult to watch, see, discuss, or listen to. Please note, however, that you will be responsible for any course material you miss if you choose not to participate. If a student has any questions or concerns about course content or climate, feel free to speak with the instructor about it immediately.

EXAMS:

There will be five (5) exams, each worth 100 points. Each exam will cover information from the text, lectures, discussions, and videos. The test format may contain multiple choice, fill-in-the-blank, short answer, or essay questions. Anything covered in the classroom should be considered testable information. There will be no comprehensive final exam.

Your grade will be calculated on the basis of your best four (4) exam scores. Your lowest exam score from the first four exams will be automatically dropped. Attendance for the final exam is required and that exam score will be computed into your final grade for the course. You will need to bring a Scantron sheet, a clean sheet of paper, and No. 2 pencil to each exam.

No make-up exams will be given. Exams will not be given after the scheduled exam time. Missed exams will be assigned no points. If you are unable to attend class on an exam day, the missed exam may be used as your lowest score, if it is one of the first four exams. Only one missed exam score will be dropped.

If you know ahead of time that you will be unable to attend class on an exam day you may be able to make arrangements with the instructor to take the exam early. These arrangements must be made at least two weeks prior to the scheduled exam. Requests less than two weeks prior to a scheduled will not be honored. If you come late to class on an exam day, you will not be given additional time. See the Class Schedule for tentative exam dates.

RESEARCH PAPER:

Your writing assignment will consist of a research paper that surveys research on any aspect of human behavior that can be explained from two (2) of the seven (7) theoretical perspectives in the field of psychology. The complete Research Paper assignment and format will be announced in class.

QUIZZES:

There will be two (2) quizzes, each worth 20 points. Each quiz will cover information from the text, lectures, discussions, and videos. Quiz format and chapters will be announced in class.

CLASSROOM POLICIES:

CLASS PARTICIPATION AND ATTENDANCE:

Students are encouraged to participate in discussions of the theories and concepts that will be presented in class. Some of the theories may seem counter-intuitive and may provoke much reaction, sparking lively discussions. Within these discussions, it is important to remain respectful of your fellow students. Everyone has a point of view and you are encouraged to share your reactions with the class as long as they pertain to the material. However, distractions from the lecture or topic discussions will not be tolerated.

Students are required to attend every class. If you cannot attend faithfully, arrive on time, and remain for its entirety, you should not take this course. If you miss a class, you are responsible for obtaining lecture or class notes from another student and to gain information regarding class announcements or changes to the schedule that you may have missed. Do not contact the instructor for this information.

Please be on time for class. Arriving late or leaving early undoubtedly breaks the flow of the class and causes a distraction. If you arrive late, please take a seat close to the door. If you need to leave early, make arrangements with me ahead of time and sit close to the door.

In accordance with the Washington State Attorney General's ruling on attendance, ten (10) absences or 20% absence during a course may constitute an automatic failure of the course.

This course meets 20 times Winter quarter, so more than four absences could mean an automatic failure simply based on attendance alone.

WIRELESS DEVICES & PERSONAL COMPUTERS:

Students may only use personal computers off line for note taking and only if they sit in the first row of the classroom. Students may not use personal computers to access any web sites, other than our own if applicable, during class.

All wireless devices are to be turned off and out of sight while in this classroom. Students who abuse the privilege of using personal computers during class, whose cell phones ring, who engage in sending or receiving text messages, are seen wearing ear buds, or are using electronic devices for any purpose not associated directly with the classroom or course work will be asked to remove themselves from the classroom for the remainder of the class period. I also reserve the right to answer any student's phone that rings during class. If the problem persists, the student(s) will be referred to the Dean of Student Success for appropriate disciplinary actions.

DUE DATES AND DEADLINES:

No late work will be accepted. "My computer isn't working" or "my hard disk broke" is not an acceptable excuse. It has become the new "my dog ate my homework." There are enough computers on this campus that every student should be able to find one to use if you plan ahead. Save your work early, often, and in multiple locations.

COLLEGE POLICIES AND RESOURCES:

DISABLED STUDENTS:

The Disability Resource Center serves students with a wide array of learning challenges and disabilities. Consequences: If it is determined that you have plagiarized or engaged in other forms of academic dishonesty, you will likely fail the assignment and possibly the course, despite points earned through other work. Acts of academic dishonesty are reviewed for disciplinary action.

Cheating, stealing, plagiarizing, and inappropriate or disruptive classroom behavior are violations of the Student Code of Conduct at Bellevue College. Examples of unacceptable behavior include, but are not limited to: talking out of turn, arriving late or leaving early without a valid reason, allowing cell phones or pagers to ring, and inappropriate behavior toward the instructor or classmates. The instructor can refer any violation of the Student Code of Conduct to the Dean of Student Services for possible probation or suspension from Bellevue College. Specific student rights, responsibilities and appeal procedures are listed in the Student Code of Conduct, available in the office of the Dean of Student Services.
