INTRODUCTION:

Welcome to the online version of Psychology 205 Theories of Personality. This course is designed to meet the academic needs of a unique group of students who may be unable to attend traditional campus classes and who are motivated and self-disciplined. While the class meets entirely online, students can expect a heavy workload outside of class in order to meet the requirements of the course.

Check your readiness to take an online course by doing the self-assessment quiz for distance learning at <http://bellevuecollege.edu/distance/webassess/>

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This study of personality theory explains how human behavior can be understood through the scientific exploration of major theorists. It will examine influential theories of personality, research methods, techniques, and advances in personality theory. Psychology 100, General Psychology, is a recommended pre-requisite for this course.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this course, the successful student will be able to:

1. Provide a detailed overview of major theories of personality.
2. Examine theories of etiology and development of personality characteristics, including healthy and deviant.
3. Discover insight into their own and other's behaviors through personality theory and perspectives.
4. Compare and contrast the individual theorists in the field of personality development.

GENERAL EDUCATION OBJECTIVES:

This course meets the following outcomes: Critical thinking, Creativity, and Problem Solving.

REQUIRED TEXT:

Funder, David. (2010). The Personality Puzzle, Fifth Edition. New York: W.W. Norton.

Format:

Psychology 205 will be taught entirely on-line, with no face to face meetings. Students are required to read text chapters and overviews, participate in a weekly discussion forum, submit assignments, and take exams, all on-line. The site is open 24/7 for your convenience. It is expected that if you go out of town you will find a way to access the Internet (Internet cafes, hotel offices, etc.) in order to sustain your participation. Check the Distance Education web site if there seem to be problems with the system: http://bellevuecollege.edu/distance/server_status.asp.

EXAMS:

There will be three (3) exams, each worth 100 points. Each exam will cover information from the text, overviews, and discussions. The test format may contain multiple choice, fill-in-the-blank, short answer, or essay questions. Anything covered in the class, including discussions and assignments, should be considered testable information. There will be no comprehensive final exam.

DISCUSSIONS:

There will be one discussion per week, running from Monday to Friday. Each week, students will be able to select one of the questions posted and develop a response. In addition, students will need to respond to two posts from other students who have answered different questions. Discussions are intended to increase interaction and should deepen understanding and thinking about the subject matter. Specific details on how to write discussion responses are available under 'Discussion Instructions' in the 'Getting Started' Folder.

PERSONAL INTRODUCTION:

Students will be asked to post a personal introduction in Module 1 the first week of class, worth 20 points. Instructions for this assignment can be found in Module 1.

PERSONALITY MEASUREMENT ASSIGNMENTS:

Part of the study of personality is focused on how personality characteristics are measured. In each module, you'll find one or more links to online personality tests that will help you understand more about the process of measurement as well as provide you with interesting information about yourself. The links to the measurements as well as instructions for the write-ups for each of these assignments will be found in the course content modules.

THEORETICAL ANALYSIS ASSIGNMENT:

This paper is designed to help you integrate some of the concepts that we have studied so far. Students will do this by viewing an episode of Real World and completing an analysis of two of the characters. Students will be asked to discuss the personalities of the characters and their relationship from a specific theoretical perspective covered in this class. Instructions for this assignment will be found in Module 3.

A NOTE ABOUT COURSE CONTENT:

Since Introduction to Personality examines many aspects of the individual, this course will discuss some provocative material. Please be advised that when controversial topics are explored, they will be framed within an academic context. Keep in mind that finding oneself in a space outside of one's comfort zone is an opportunity for learning. Students may be confronted with subject matter that is difficult to read about, view, or discuss. If a student has any questions or concerns about course content or climate, feel free to email the instructor about it immediately.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES:

Students with disabilities who have accommodation needs are encouraged to meet with the Disability Resource Center (DRC) office located in B132 (telephone 425-564-2498 or TTY 425-564-4110), to establish their eligibility for accommodation. The DRC office will provide each eligible student with an accommodation letter. Students who require on-line course modifications, adaptations, or accommodations because of a disability should be sure the letter is from the DRC is sent to me during the first week of the quarter. Information is also available at <http://bellevuecollege.edu/drc/>

ADVISING:

The Psychology Department has an in-house advisor, Deanne Eschbach, located in D110C. Call 425-564-2216 or 425-564-2212 for an appointment.

SAFE SPACE:

This class is a Safe Space for all students. Lesbian, gay, bisexual, questioning, queer-identified, and transgendered students along with students of all cultures, nationalities, and spiritual beliefs are welcome in this on-line class and encouraged to share your thoughts and be an integral part of this class. If a student has any questions or concerns about this, feel free to email the instructor about it immediately.

All are welcome in this class!

PLAGIARISM AND OTHER CONDUCT POLICIES:

Plagiarism is a form of academic dishonesty that occurs when students use information or material from outside sources and do not properly cite those sources. This is grounds for disciplinary action. It is your responsibility to understand plagiarism and its consequences. Plagiarism occurs if:

- a. You do not cite quotations and/or attribute borrowed ideas.
- b. You fail to enclose borrowed language in quotation marks.
- c. You do not write summaries and paraphrases in his/her own words and/or doesn't document his/her source.
- d. You turn in work created by another person.
- e. You submit or use your own prior work for a current or past course, or work from one current course in another course without express permission from your professors. This may also be considered academic dishonesty.

Consequences: If it is determined that you have plagiarized or engaged in other forms of academic dishonesty, you will likely fail the assignment and possibly the course, despite points earned through other work. Acts of academic dishonesty are reviewed for disciplinary action.

Cheating, stealing, plagiarizing, and inappropriate or disruptive online classroom behavior are violations of the Student Code of Conduct at Bellevue College. The instructor can refer any violation of the Student Code of Conduct to the Dean of Student Services for possible probation or suspension from Bellevue College. Specific student rights, responsibilities and appeal procedures are listed in the Student Code of Conduct, available in the office of the Dean of Student Services.

INCOMPLETE:

If a student fails to complete all the required work for the course, the instructor may assign the grade of Incomplete ("I"). You must contact the instructor before grades are assigned to be considered for this exception and you must complete the coursework by the end of the next quarter, or receive the assigned letter grade (usually an "F").

F GRADE:

Students who fail the course will receive a letter grade of "F".

WITHDRAWAL:

College policy states that students must formally withdraw from a class by the end of the seventh week of the quarter (Registration Office, B125). If a student has not withdrawn by that date, an appropriate letter grade will be assigned for the course.

HARDSHIP WITHDRAWAL:

The instructor may assign a grade of "HW" (hardship withdrawal) at his or her discretion in the event that a student cannot complete the coursework due to extreme and exceptional circumstances that may have occurred after the withdrawal period. A student must contact the instructor before grades are assigned to be considered for this exception and you must provide proof of need for this exception. Students may also contact the Enrollment Services office before grades are assigned in cases of hardship. Please note that a Hardship Withdrawal is not a back door exit if you are failing the course.

STUDENT SUPPORT SERVICES:

Submit proofread work only. If you need help with your writing, please make use of the following student support services:

- Academic Success Center: <http://bellevuecollege.edu/academicsuccess/>
