COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course acquaints you with basic sociological and psychological concepts and perspectives as you become aware of and explore the importance of topics such as class, race, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality, and the way in which these subjects intersect with one another. Most importantly, you will begin to see yourself in the world, and understand your concepts of the world around you. Through posted lecture material, engaged online discussion boards, film clips and other media, as well as assigned readings, this course will take you on an exploration of the many dimensions of the exciting field of social psychology. We will make broad use of popular culture to understand the many ways we shape our social universe and the way our social universe may shape us. By the end of this course, I hope to have all of you thinking critically about the way things work, why things work the way they do, and who we are within the social fabric of the global entity in which we live. You will be asked, over the course of the term, to confront the things you take for granted. Everyday occurrences will be challenged and thought through critically. Imagine yourself as Neo from "The Matrix" when he decides to take the Red Pill or Alice when she decides to explore the rabbit hole. Both must deal with what's at the end of their adventures. What will you find at the end of this adventure?

A NOTE ABOUT COURSE CONTENT: Since sociologists examine just about every aspect of the social world, we talk about provocative material. When we explore controversial topics, they will always be framed within an academic context. Keep in mind that when we find ourselves in a space outside of our comfort zone, it's an opportunity for learning, and you may be confronted with subject matter that is difficult to watch, see, discuss, or listen to. Please note that you will be responsible for any course material you miss if you choose not to participate. If you have any questions or concerns about content or climate, feel free to speak with me about it right away.

READING REQUIREMENTS:

- O'Brien, Jodi. The Production of Reality. 5th Edition. Pine Forge Press. 2011.

If you need course modifications, adaptations, or accommodations because of a disability, please let me know. I do not require that students go through the DRC for accommodations but I recommend you do this for your other classes. I can refer you to our Disability Resource Center (DRC). If you prefer, you may contact them directly by going to B132 or by calling 425.564.2498 or TTY 425.564.4110. Information is also available on their website at <http://bellevuecollege.edu/drc/>. LEARNING AND COURSE OUTCOMES: By integrating and connecting theoretical, conceptual, and empirical sources, and personal applications, you will:

- 1) Utilize the concept of the self as an entity created in interaction (i.e., socially constructed).
- 2) Analyze the relationship between the self and culture.
- 3) Connect social environment and interaction to thoughts, emotions and physical states.
- 4) Identify how social interaction sustains and changes the sense of self.
- 5) Delineate the sources and mechanisms that organize and provide patterns to social interaction.
- 6) Differentiate social interaction and social relationships, in order to identify how social relationships are collectively constructed, destructed and/or maintained.
- 7) Examine how our experiences and lives are structured, and how our interaction reproduces social structures, including the power of social structure over our lives.
- 8) Create the design for how we collectively create social structures out of interaction.
- 9) Apply the politics of social life in deciding the prevailing reality for members of social groups and situations, considering power and definitional contests.
- 10) Analyze how multiphrenia and other postmodern features of society impact our sense of self.

GENERAL RULES & EXPECTATIONS:

- Check in to our online classroom no less than four times per week (yes – I do keep track!).
- Complete readings and homework assignments on time.
- Late homework assignments are accepted, but make-up exams are not permitted.
 - Late homework is docked 10% for every day the work is late, including Saturdays and Sundays.
- I expect that your behavior in our virtual classroom be respectful. Continued disrespectful behavior in my class will result in your grade lowering. Please keep your postings to discussion boards (DBs) thoughtful and polite. One-on-one conversations should be taken off-board and onto email so our DBs don't get clogged. If you find at any point that you are uncomfortable with anything posted to a DB, please email me right away.

Remember: This is an accelerated course and falling behind can be hazardous to your health!

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

"Attendance" and Participation*:	200 points
Research Paper (1):	300 points
Discussion Boards (3):	300 points
Course Exams, Overall:	200 points
TOTAL:	1000 points

Participation points accrue with various short assignments on the DB, such as your Introductory DB. These are labeled PARTICIPATION DBs. The Graded DB assignments are labeled GRADED DBs. Please be aware of this difference.

The Fine Print (or, what I really mean by that table above):

"Attendance" & Participation: Check in no less than four times per week, be engaged with all of your discussion board assignments, provoke energetic and polite discussion, listen actively, work respectfully with your colleagues in class, take loads of notes from your readings, look up words you don't understand, ask questions, think critically about the world around you, etc.

Exams: Your exams cover everything up through the week they're given, and may include multiple choice and/or short-answer questions (either or both). Your responses should be clear and concise. Your short-answer responses will range from no less than one full paragraph, to three full paragraphs. In lieu of study guides for our short exams, you can rely solely on the material presented in class and the O'Brien text.

"Graded" Discussion Board Assignments: The work done in the Discussion Board area will have you engage course material and work closely together. You are expected to participate in these assignments in order to generate critical discussion amongst one another. This method of learning gets you going socially! These assignments are always due on Wednesdays and Saturdays (your initial post goes up Wednesday and your responses to one another are due Saturdays). Your DBs are graded on two things: your original post and your responses (two of them) to colleagues of yours in the class. You must do both to earn full credit. A submission with no responses posted earns ½ credit at most, and responses without an original submission receive zero credit.

“Participation” Discussion Board Assignments: These are meant to support you in our course and include an Introduction & Q&A for Research Papers. They are both required and the grades get folded into your overall Participation Grade.

Research Paper (6-8 pages): For this assignment, you will choose an area of social psychology that we cover this quarter that is of interest to you and then narrow that down to a specific topic. Media, Family, Education, Religion, Deviance, or any of the key terms and core concepts are great places to start thinking about this. If you decide you’re interested in Media, for instance, that would be your area and your topic could be something like the commercialization of childhood through media advertising. Your essay should be exploratory in that you will omit a hypothesis and instead find a topic or theme of interest to you and then explore it. The Research Paper is broken up into five parts: Topic, Brief Draft, Bibliography, First Draft, and Final Draft (see specifics below). You will find more detailed directions for this assignment in the Assignments area on the left-hand menu bar and the schedule for these assignments are located in the Course Schedule below as well as in the Calendar area of our class site.

1. Topic – Due end of Week Two (1-2 paragraphs, 50 points)
 - 1 – 2 paragraphs on your chosen topic, including an explanation as to why you chose what you did. What is interesting about it?
 - An answer to the following: What do you want to know and why do you want to know it?
 - Include any questions you have for me.
2. Brief Draft – Due end of Week Four (2-3 pages, 50 points)
 - Your brief draft needs an introductory paragraph, three main “points” explained in brief detail that you intend to make up the body of your paper, and a working conclusion (you can, of course, change all of these as you go along). In essence, this is a summary of your paper.
 - Further reflection on: What do you want to know and why do you want to know it?
 - On the last page, include any questions you have for me.
3. Working Bibliography – Due end of Week Four as a separate document (50 points)
 - Your working bibliography should be your research thus far. You’ll likely add to it or even delete something from it at the end of our term.
 - You must have five sources total, two of which must be scholarly.
 - One of your sources must be annotated.
4. First Draft (note here that I don’t say ROUGH Draft! ☺) – Due end of Week Six (3-5 pages, 50 points)
 - Your first draft should closely resemble your final paper, free from grammatical and spelling errors, cited properly, and well thought-out/argued/presented.
 - You must use either APA or MLA format and you must give credit where credit is due. If you’re unsure about proper citation or what plagiarism is, email me immediately.
 - Please include a fresh & updated Working Bibliography, including your original sources from Week Four’s Working Bibliography. You must have one additional source, which must be scholarly. Highlight your additional source. So then, at this point you will have six sources total, three of which must be scholarly.
 - Annotate your added source.
 - If you would like to have this version considered as your Final Paper, please email me. After consultation, you may be permitted to submit this as your final paper (which would then need to be 6-8 pages), and I will read it as such. Point distribution will be adjusted accordingly. Your Final Bibliography will also need to be submitted if you would like this draft submitted as your final.

- Include any questions you have for me.
- 5. Final Paper & Final Bibliography with Final Annotations – Due August 12th (6-8 pages, 100 points)
 - With your final paper, include your Final Bibliography, updated from your first & second Working Bibliographies. Two additional sources are required, one of which must be scholarly. One more Annotation is due. Highlight your additional sources. This means:
 - i. EIGHT Sources, total
 - ii. FOUR of those sources are scholarly
 - iii. THREE Annotations, total
 - A strong final paper incorporates all of my comments from previous papers and is free from spelling and grammatical errors. There are no late Final Papers accepted.

For all of your written work: Submit proofread work only. Work not proofread will be returned once for a rewrite, expected to be handed in within 48 hours. If you need help with your writing, please make use of the following student support services:

- Academic Success Center: <http://bellevuecollege.edu/academicsuccess/>
- Academic Tutoring Center: <http://bellevuecollege.edu/tutoring/>
- TRiO Student Support Services: <http://bellevuecollege.edu/TRiO/>
- Writing Lab @ BCC: <http://bellevuecollege.edu/writinglab/>

Below is a checklist for you to go over before you hand in each written assignment.

- Twelve-point sized Times font, double-spaced
- 1" margins all around
- MLA or APA Citations where appropriate – credit is given even where any ideas presented in the paper are not your own
- Title pages and bibliographies are not counted in final page count
- Student information is at the top left of the page, single spaced
- There are no extra spaces between paragraphs.
- Paragraphs contain no less than four sentences.
- Magazines, newspapers, journals, and books are italicized. Movie titles, article titles, song titles, etc. are “in quotation marks.” Quotes inside of a quotation use ‘single quotation marks.’

Your written work is evaluated on:

- I) Content
 - a. Fulfilling the entire assignment. Doing the minimum amount of work expected will likely get you a passing grade, but not an outstanding one. You’re expected to go the extra mile.
 - b. Fully developing your argument(s) and making use of examples and evidence to support your argument(s).

- c. Flow of thought throughout the paper, with strong analyses and conclusions.
- 2) Writing Style
 - a. Excellent command of the written English language. In other words, most excellent grammar. NOTE: If you struggle with grammar and spelling or are an ESL student, please let me know! I'm happy to work with you and point you in the right direction.
 - b. Clarity of thought.
 - c. Good organization and attention to detail.
 - d. Persuasiveness of your argument/s.
 - e. Creativity. Make it an interesting read!
 - f. PROOFREAD your work. Please do a spell/grammar check before you hand it in. Read it out loud to yourself, too! It really helps.
 - g. Dude, like totally don't write colloquially. A conversation is a conversation. A paper is an entirely different way of presenting your research and ideas. ☺

Preventing Plagiarism: Plagiarism is a form of academic dishonesty occurring when students use information or material from outside sources and do not properly cite those sources. This is grounds for disciplinary action. It is your responsibility to understand plagiarism and its consequences. Plagiarism occurs if:

- a. You do not cite quotations and/or attribute borrowed ideas.
- b. You fail to enclose borrowed language in quotation marks.
- c. You do not write summaries and paraphrases in his/her own words and/or doesn't document his/her source.
- d. You turn in work created by another person.
- e. You submit or use your own prior work for a current or past course, or work from one current course in another course without express permission from your professors. This may also be considered academic dishonesty.
- f. Consequences: If it is determined that you have plagiarized or engaged in other forms of academic dishonesty, you will likely fail the assignment and possibly the course, despite points earned through other work. Acts of academic dishonesty are reviewed for disciplinary action.

Grading:

Please use the following rubric to help explain the grade you're given for a given assignment. Occasionally, you will receive a Numerical Grade from me, with little-to-no commentary. This is only because I've found that most students do not read written comments from their professors. Please do not hesitate to come to me with any questions you ever have on a grade you receive. There is no limit to how many times you email me! My email door is always open and I'm always happy to go over grades with you. I'm also on campus Monday through Friday and am available to meet in person during my office hours or by appointment.

90-100 = A. "A" work shows me you're engaged with all course material by utilizing quotes and ideas. It is writing completely free from grammar and spelling errors, demonstrating your command not only of the English language, but of the form and flow of a solid piece of written work. I also like to see/read/hear your "writing voice." That is, I want your style to come through! Your arguments should be solid and backed up with intellectual ammunition. You should demonstrate a strong understanding of our readings and the in-class media and how they intersect with one another. Your ideas should be "fleshed out" and not just a series of statements, in other words.

80-89 = B. The “B” tells me you’re doing very good work. You may have a couple of grammar issues, but your work is still tidy and the writing is still strong. You have a firm grasp on the themes in the course but you may not be as well-versed in the readings and/or media and/or lecture material as you could be. I should see that you’re being challenged and that you’re struggling with the course issues and themes, and what they represent to you in an interconnected way. Your understandings of some of the course materials are stronger than others.

70-79 = C. “C” work means that you’re not as invested in the material as I would like to see. Your writing is relatively weaker than it could be and you’re not thinking as critically as I would like you to. You write the bare minimum of the length requirement. Some of what you point out I may not follow logically, and your use of the course materials may not be as solid as it could be. You omit some of the important points raised in class.

60-69 = D. Ah, the “D.” “D” is for “Don’t be Discouraged.” I will work closely with each of you as much as time allows, getting you up to speed in class. Your struggles should not be with writing so much at this point but if they are please see me immediately. “D” work is not proofread, nor does it deal critically with the themes in the course. It responds, perhaps, to one part of one of the readings but there is little-to-no integration of material and you’re not responding to the questions raised in the assignment. Demonstrated understanding of the course materials is not presented clearly, or at all. (NOTE: A “D” and below may be rewritten once if you choose to do so. It must be turned in within 72 hours, and I enter the better grade.)

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR:

When I'm not teaching, I'm usually whipping up some sort of baked goodness in my kitchen, doing collage art, taking photos of the world around me, hanging out with my kid, watching horror movies, or going out to listen to live music. Mostly, I go to hear metal, bluegrass, punk, or local hip-hop shows. I received my Ph.D. in Sociology (with an emphasis in American Studies) from UC Santa Cruz. I received my first MA in Sociology from Humboldt State University and my second MA in Sociology from UCSC, my BA in Sociology and Journalism from Mills College, and my AA in English and Creative Writing from Vista Community College. This is my fifth year as Instructor of Sociology at BC. I also play roller derby with Tilted Thunder Rail Birds, Seattle's only banked track derby league! I love to write and am currently working on a memoir and a collection of poetry. More at: <http://sara.sutlercohen.com>, or you can add me as a friend on Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/docsara>.

Thank you for a wonderful term!
