HISTORY OF CIVILIZATION: MIDDLE AGES
INSTRUCTOR: T.A. PERRY
MEETS: Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:00pm to 5:10pm
OFFICE HOURS: By appointment before class
PHONE (425)564-2278

REQUIRED TEXTS:

William Rosen: Justinians Flea
Karen Armstrong: A Short History of Islam
Louise Levantes: When China Ruled the Seas
William Manchester: A World Lit Only by Fire
David Andress: The Terror

COURSE OBJECTIVE: We shall endeavor to trace the development of world civilization from the fall of Rome to the rise of Napoleon, a period of 1400 years. We shall discuss in detail the feudal and manorial structure of the Medieval, the rediscovery of the “ancients” and the artistic accomplishments of the Renaissance, the religious/political and social turmoil of the Reformation; the development of the modern state after 1648; and consider the English and French revolutions as a prelude to the Napoleonic era. We will also study intrinsic developments in Asia, Africa and the Western Hemisphere as well as their special relationships to the “Old World” after 1400. The general theme herein delineates how world cultures went from parochial to regional to global

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES: The primary learning outcomes of History 102 are to:

1. develop cognitive skills in critical and analytical thinking
2. develop an historical awareness of the processes of cultural development
3. develop an appreciation for the diversity of human culture
4. develop an appreciation for the variety of human responses to the challenges which faced global societies in the post-classical world and the changes that bring humanity into early modern times

These objectives will be accomplished by enabling students to:

1. understand and appreciate historical methodology
2. understand the varieties of historical evidence
3. understand the limits of historical evidence and interpretation
4. differentiate between fact, opinion and interpretation
5. compare and contrast data
6. identify cause and effect in major historical developments
7. develop inferential skills and analytical skills
8. develop convincing interpretations

The following topics or themes will enable students to develop and apply the major learning outcomes:

1. Historical methodology
2. Historiography
3. The role of geophysical conditions in historical developments
4. The development of culture and the development of a post-classical synthesis in world civilizations with special focus on:
 - Religions
 - Political systems
 - Economic/Commercial systems
 - Social stratification
 - Gender/racial relations
 - Military and diplomatic systems
 - Plastic and literary artistic achievements
 - Scientific and technological innovations
5. Comparison of the cultural development and cultural traditions of world civilizations from the post-classical era to the early modern era.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: There will be two exams.

EXAM 1 Due Thursday, October 30, 2008.....30% of grade
This will be a take-home exam.

EXAM 2 Due Tuesday, December 09, 2008 (Final).....30% of grade
This will be a take-home test. One question will be comprehensive, the other covering the latter one-half of the course.

In Exam 1 and Part 1 of Exam 2, there will be a choice of questions offered for you to answer. There will be NO choice on the comprehensive portion of the final.

LATE EXAMS: I will NOT accept a late mid-term exam. If the mid-term is not delivered on time in the classroom on the required date, it will be recorded as a zero and calculated as such in the overall average score to determine a final grade. As the Mid-term and the final are distributed well in advance of the due date, there is neither excuse nor reason to not submit them when they are due!

QUIZZES: There will be quizzes. Each of them will be on the assigned readings in order.

EACH quiz is worth 10% of your grade, for a total of 40%. You may drop the lowest grade, or, blow off any one of the quizzes. However, there will be NO makeup for any of the quizzes available for any reason- illness, travel, revelry, etc. AMEN!!!!

Quiz Schedule:

Quiz 1	Thursday, October 09, 2008
Quiz 2	Thursday, October 23, 2008
Quiz 3	Thursday, November 06, 2008
Quiz 4	Thursday, November 20, 2008
Quiz 5	Thursday, December 04, 2008

GRADING POLICY: I assign the final letter grades on a straight forward percentage basis as follows:

A	(4.0)	98-100	C	(2.0)	79-82
A-	(3.7)	94-97	C-	(1.7)	76-78
B+	(3.3)	91-93	D+	(1.3)	73-75
B	(3.0)	88-90	D	(1.0)	70-72
B-	(2.7)	86-87	F	(0.0)	BELOW 70
C+	(2.3)	83-85

I do not curve grades, but I do make allowances for extenuating circumstances. (We all have bad days). And, I tend to emphasize overall improvement in assigning a final grade.

I do not offer, and will not assign and Incomplete (I) grade.

If you decide that this course is not your “cup of tea”, please do yourself a favor and withdraw, rather than simply evaporate “into the mystic”. Please be aware of the college policy for dropping classes as detailed in the academic calendar located on page 5 of the Fall 2008 Quarterly Schedule.

ODDS AND ENDS: My basic approach is to use lecture and appropriate media materials to enhance your comprehension of the subject matter. We will seldom delve into formal discussions due to the volume of material to be covered and the limited time we have available. I DO ENCOURAGE QUESTIONS. The only “stupid” question is the one which needs to be answered but is not asked.

ATTENDANCE DISCLAIMER:

I have not, do not and never will utilize class attendance as a factor in assessing a grade, for a variety of reasons (whether a student is present or not for class is a personal decision). I would hope that I have something to offer vis-à-vis enhancement and/or comprehension of the course material and that might entice students to show up at least for the entertainment value. However, be aware that decisions like coins have two sides and an edge. The other side of the attendance coin is this: if announcements or pronouncements are made that are relevant to any and all aspects of the class, especially the course calendar, I am not responsible if a student is not present to hear them!

CLAIMING ASSIGNMENTS:

If any assignment is not claimed within one week from its assessment and returned to the class, each assignment will accrue a ten point penalty subtracted from the assessed quiz grade total for each quiz or mid-term remaining in my possession on final exam day.
