COURSE INTRODUCTION

Are all people clearly either "male" or "female?"
Why do women and men appear to think so differently about sex?
Does everyone around the world "have sex" in the same ways?
Is sexual orientation learned?
Why is penis size so important to men and breast size so important to women?
Is there a sexual double standard for women and men?
Are prostitution, pornography, and the adult sex industry harmful to society?
Why do some men rape?

If any or all of these questions interest you, then you are in the right place! Over the course of the quarter, we will explore these questions as well as many other fascinating topics pertaining to sex and sexuality. I look forward to working with you and sharing my enthusiasm for the sociology of sexuality. I have a passion for this subject matter, and I hope you will have a passion too. Welcome to our class!

This class is about sex. But it's not just about sex. It is also about gender, culture, and deviance. It is about the body. It's about power, politics, inequality, and social change. Sociologists know that sex does not happen in a vacuum (although that might be appealing to some people!). To the contrary, sex is tied up with history, culture, politics, and power. We will explore these connections over the next eleven weeks. Our major goal is to understand how the larger social environment fundamentally shapes our intimate, private sex lives for better or worse.

We live in a society where sex is everywhere – on television and radio, in movies and the arts, on bus stop billboards and magazine advertisements. We talk about sex at home, in school, on Capitol Hill, and at work. We call people studs, sluts, pimps, whores, and prudes. We hear about sex drives, sex scandals, sex toys, sex addicts, and sex slaves. Sex is all around us, touching nearly every aspect of our lives – yet we rarely take the time to study it. In fact, we are often misinformed about sex. This course is designed to untangle sexual myths from sexual realities; thus, it focuses on the scientific study of sexuality. You will probably look at sex and sexuality in a very different way after taking this class.

As we all come to the course with strong ideas and beliefs about sexuality, the subject matter can be personally as well as intellectually challenging. Some of what you will learn in this course may initially seem like "common sense." Sometimes what you will learn might be shocking, surprising, or even make you angry. Nevertheless, I hope that you will learn from each class experience and take these lessons with you on your future endeavors.

LEARNING ATMOSPHERE

I believe that students learn best when they are actively involved in the teaching and learning process. Thus, this is an active, interactive course where you are expected to read, write, discuss, and participate. I think of our class as a “collaborative learning community” where we all teach and learn from each other. Every time you make a comment or ask a question, you teach something to the rest of us. I challenge you to abandon the traditional passive student role and to get involved with teaching and learning – I think you’ll enjoy it and learn a lot in the process!

(Please note that since this is a class about sex and sexuality, we may have frank discussions about potentially sensitive and explicit topics. If at any time you feel uncomfortable during class, you are free to step out of class. However, if you are one to become upset by open and frank discussions about sex, this course may not be a good choice for you. This is an “R” rated class.)

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

After completing the course, the successful student will be able to:

- Explain the difference between key concepts in the field, such as “sex,” “gender,” “sexuality,” and “sexual orientation”;
- Confront the limits and special problems of scientific research on sex and sexuality;
- Compare norms and cultural perspectives on sexual behavior across societies;
- Describe the ways in which our culture and society shape our sexual opinions and experiences;
- Illustrate how gender influences sexual attitudes and behaviors;
- Better understand sexual practices and perspectives that are different from your own;
- Recognize how sex and sexualities are marketed, packaged and sold by society;
- Critically examine how societies regulate sexual behavior;
- Describe what “social construction” means; and
- Look at sexuality from a sociological perspective.

NOTE: This course’s General Education ratings are: 3 in Critical Thinking, 2 in Reading, 2 in Ethics, 2 in Historical and Intellectual Perspectives, and 2 in Cultural Diversity.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND EXPECTATIONS

The following outlines what you may expect of me as your instructor:

- A sincere effort to help you learn the course material. Since my ultimate goal is to help you learn and succeed, I intend to spend enough time and effort on class preparation to make the material as understandable and as interesting as I possibly can.
- Accessibility. I agree to be available to you outside of class should you desire help. I encourage you to come to my office hours whenever you have a question or concern. I am more than happy to help. Please try to make it your personal goal to visit my office hours at least once this quarter. I think you will find it helpful. If my office hours are not convenient for you, we can schedule an appointment that fits your schedule.
- Attention. When you are speaking, you will have my undivided attention.
- Fairness. Your grade will be based upon what I detect that you have learned and how I assess your performance. I will not negotiate final grades.

The following outlines what I expect from you as a student in this class:

- A sincere effort to learn the course material.
- Preparation. You should come to class having done the assigned readings and homework, and you should always bring the proper supplies with you. On seminar days, you should bring the readings. Note that the BCC guideline for homework is two hours outside of class for each hour spent in class.
- Attendance. Please attend all class sessions – your presence in class contributes significantly toward your final grade in the course as I cover a lot of material in class that can not be found in the readings. If you do need to miss class, please note that you will not be able to make up any in-class work that you may have missed (such as group work), and you are also responsible for any and all work that is due at the class meeting immediately upon your return. I highly recommend that you get the names and contact information of one or two of your classmates so you can contact them for any assignments or notes you may have missed while absent.
- Promptness. You should be in class on time except when delayed by an emergency, and you should stay until class is over unless you become ill or have made arrangements with me to leave early. Furthermore, you should comply with all due dates. I believe that one of the major lessons students take away from college is the importance of meeting deadlines. As a result, no late work will be accepted unless you have had it approved by me BEFORE the due date. Late work will receive a zero grade.

NOTE: I do not accept assignments via email. It is your responsibility to get the work to me in class when it is due.

If you know you are going to be absent on the day an assignment is due, then turn it in early. Being absent on the day something is due does not grant you an automatic extension. Major due dates are indicated on the attached Course Calendar, so plan ahead.

- Contribution. Learning about each other's experiences and perspectives is an integral part of the learning process in this course. I believe that you will learn a lot about yourself and your fellow classmates. To work effectively in this course, therefore, you are expected to be an active participant in our learning environment. You should do your best to contribute to class discussions and activities. Please be advised that your grade will suffer if you do not participate and contribute to the intellectual life of our class.
- Respect and tolerance. Since learning about diverse experiences is central to this course, it is of the utmost importance that you respect your classmates' experiences, differences, and opinions. Disrespectful attitudes will not be tolerated.
- Honesty. If you cheat, you fail. No excuses will be taken into account. Your work must be your own, except when asked to work with other students. Furthermore, you are required to acknowledge in your papers if you have borrowed any ideas, terms, or phrases, even if you have borrowed from a classmate. If you have any hesitation, or if you are in doubt about one of these issues, feel free to ask me.

GRADING

Grades are based on your performance on five factors: (1) quizzes, (2) exams, (3) seminar, (4) a group research project and presentation, (5) a group presentation of an article, and (6) class participation. Each of these elements is awarded a specific number of points:

Weekly Quizzes (9 @ 30 pts each)	270 points (27% of final grade)
Exams (2 @ 100 pts each)	200 points (20% of final grade)
Seminar	200 points (20% of final grade)
Research project and presentation	180 points (18% of final grade)
Article presentation	100 points (10% of final grade)
Participation	50 points (5% of final grade)
TOTAL	1,000 points

The following are the letter-grade equivalents to the course points:

Course Grade	Point Total	Course Grade	Point Total
A	= 930-1,000 points	C+	= 770-799 points
A-	= 900-929 points	C	= 730-769 points
B+	= 870-899 points	C-	= 700-729 points
B	= 830-869 points	D+	= 670-699 points
B-	= 800-829 points	D	= 600-669 points
		F	= 0-599 points

The following is a brief description of each of the six components:

- (1) Performance on Weekly Quizzes: Ten in-class quizzes are given over the course of the quarter (that's one each week), but only nine count toward your final grade in the class (I drop the lowest score). Quiz dates are provided on the attached Course Calendar, so plan ahead accordingly. Quizzes should take no longer than 15 minutes and are administered at the beginning of class. Quizzes are designed to test whether or not you completed and understand the readings for the week. Note that you cannot makeup missed quizzes. If you are absent on a quiz day, then you should consider that your dropped score. If you come in late on a quiz day, you will be expected to finish the quiz at the same time as the rest of the class. (9 quizzes @ 30 points each = 270 total points)
- (2) Performance on Exams: Over the course of the quarter, you will take two exams that integrate the course's in-class activities (lectures, films, etc.) and readings. Exams are designed to make sure you understand important course concepts and themes. Exams might include multiple choice, true/false, short answer, and essay questions. Please note that you cannot make up missed exams. Exam dates are on the attached Course Calendar, so please plan ahead. (2 exams @ 100 points each = 200 total points)
- (3) Performance in Seminar: We will have twenty seminars over the course of the quarter. Seminar involves breaking students into groups in order to have thought-provoking discussions about a reading or two. It is crucial that you come to seminar prepared. You will need to complete the readings ahead of time and bring a brief paper (approximately 1 typed page) to each seminar. (NOTE: I will not accept papers that are not typed.)

Each seminar paper should include the following:

- a statement of the article's thesis (in your own words!); in other words, what is the main point of the article, and what is the author CONCLUDING about the topic?
- a one paragraph summary of the seminar article
- 3-4 central questions that you have about the article (the questions should be thought-provoking, not "What did you think about the article?" and "What is the author saying?"); these are meant to be the questions you'd like to ask your classmates during discussion.

Seminar papers should NOT include your opinion about the article (you will have plenty of time to talk about that during seminar!). Instead, remain focused in your papers, and succinctly explain what the author is actually saying. Your seminar grade is based on attendance, participation, and papers.

Seminar papers:	20 @ 5pts each = 100 points
Seminar participation:	100 points
TOTAL SEMINAR POINTS:	200

- (4) Performance on Group Research Project and Presentation: You will form groups (of 4 to 5 students each) and conduct original social research as a team. This is not traditional library research; rather, your team will "go out" into the world and collect data about a course-related topic of your choice. You might decide, for example, to survey BCC students about their sexual preferences and prejudices. You might go to a public library and analyze the messages found in children's sex education books. You might analyze how condoms (or tampons) are marketed. Or, you might visit a strip club and conduct a "content analysis" of how sex is sold. Your group will present your research to the class at the end of the quarter. More details about this project will be distributed early the quarter.

(Research Project and Presentation = 180 total points)

- (5) Article Presentation: You will divide into groups of three and "teach" the class about a reading of your choice. (I will provide you with a list of readings from which you will choose.) Each teaching presentation should take about 20-25 minutes and have certain components: it should be interactive, interesting, and accurately cover the main points of the reading. I highly recommend that you spend about the first five minutes of your presentation going over the thesis of the article and the primary claims. For the rest of your presentation, I encourage you to be creative – feel free to bring in outside material if you'd like. You might break the class into pairs or groups and ask us to talk about certain thought-provoking questions. You might bring in a film or music clip that relates to the article. You might conduct a role-playing activity for the class, or you might organize a structured debate. All pairs are required to meet with me at least two days before your presentation in order to share with me your lesson plans. (Article presentation = 100 points)

- (6) Participation: Participation is essential to the format of this class and will therefore contribute significantly toward your grade. In short, your success in this class depends on your active participation. "Participation" includes attendance (remember that you are allowed to miss four classes without penalty to the participation portion of your grade), class discussions, group work, and independent in-class assignments such as film questions. Do not take this portion of your grade lightly – excellent attendance can significantly improve your final grade!
(50 total points for participation)

Students with Disabilities. All students are responsible for all requirements of the class, but the way they meet these requirements may vary. If you need specific academic accommodations due to a disability, please speak with me and with Disability Resource Center (564-2498). You will need to obtain the appropriate documentation from DRC in room B233. The disability accommodation documentation must be given to me before it is needed rather than afterward, so that we can make appropriate arrangements.

COURSE CALENDAR

The following Course Calendar will be revised as needed. Please note that you will be held responsible for all revisions to the calendar. If you miss a class, be sure to check either with me or a classmate regarding any changes.

You should make every effort to read the articles and chapters in the order listed (there is a reason why they're ordered in this manner!). "Sexualities" refers to the textbook. Several additional articles are on reserve online at MyBCC.
