COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course acquaints you with applied sociological concepts and perspectives as you become aware of and explore global studies. We will critically engage what it means to engage the so-called global village with a keen eye on the sociological perspective. Through lecture, film and other media, as well as assigned readings, this course will take you on an exploration of the many dimensions of the social space of global sociology. By the end of this course, I hope to have all of you thinking critically about the world and your place in it, including the way political, social, religious, and cultural history has shaped migration patterns, global business structures, and of course, communications. We will also investigate how and why things work the way they do today and who we are in terms of the way we imagine the space of world economy, politics, and culture in our social worlds. You will be asked, over the course of the term, to confront the things you take for granted. Everyday occurrences will be challenged and thought through critically. Imagine yourself as Neo from "The Matrix" when he decides to take the Red Pill or Alice when she decides to explore the rabbit hole. Both must deal with what's at the end of their adventures. What will you find at the end of this adventure?

Course Catalog Description: How are people around the world deeply intertwined in a complex web of relationships? Explore a variety of political, cultural, and social changes that are transforming our world. Investigate globalization and its consequences. Using literature, art, film and popular culture, examine how countries are increasingly interconnected by flows of information, money, and people.

A NOTE ABOUT COURSE CONTENT: Since social scientists examine just about every aspect of the social world, we talk about provocative material. When we explore controversial topics, they will always be framed within an academic context. Keep in mind that when we find ourselves in a space outside of our comfort zone, it's an opportunity for learning, and you may be confronted with subject matter that is difficult to watch, see, discuss, or listen to. Please note that you will be responsible for any course material you miss if you choose not to participate. If you have any questions or concerns about content or climate, feel free to speak with me about it right away.

READING REQUIREMENTS:

- All readings & handouts are available on our Canvas site.
- Readings are uploaded in each module.
- Handouts are uploaded on our Course Handouts page (link on homepage).

STRONGLY RECOMMENDED READINGS:

- Any current Sociology Dictionary

- Any writing guide to help you in your quest for mastering college-level writing.
- Purdue College's resources for college students.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES: If you have medical information to share with me in the event of an emergency, please contact me via email. Emergency preparedness is important! If you need course modifications, adaptations, or accommodations because of a disability, please see me immediately so I can also refer you to our Disability Resource Center (DRC). If you prefer, you may contact them directly by going to B132 or by calling 425.564.2498 or TTY 425.564.4110. Information is also available on their website.

EXPLORE THE LMC! The Library Media Center is at your fingertips! I strongly encourage you to visit the LMC at least once a week, but you can also access it via the web. Talk to a Reference Librarian at the Library (D-126), by calling (425) 564-6161, or by email.

LEARNING AND COURSE OUTCOMES: Upon your dedicated participation and completion of this course, you will:

- Explain globalization from a sociological perspective and how race, class, gender, and culture influence our relationships to globalization.
- Describe how globalization has altered conceptions of national boundaries, citizenship, and the ethical implications of a global world.
- Articulate the impact of globalization on your own life.

Rules & Expectations:

Check into our online classroom often. No need to check in with me on this one. Make this class work for you on your own time.

Complete readings and homework assignments on time. You need to read/review your required material to complete all homework assignments.

I do not accept second, third, fourth, etc. submissions. What you submit the first time is what gets graded.

Late work Policy:

- You will recognize that every professor has their own approach to late work. This goes together with teaching philosophies and styles and as such, you want to review and understand the rules. I try to make mine as clear as possible but if you ever have questions, post to our Q&A Forum.
- Discussion Boards: Initial Discussion Board Posts (your main Discussion Board homework) are due on Thursdays. You are required to respond to the Initial Posts of two of your colleagues by the Sunday in the week of the active Discussion Board. Your Initial Post is deducted by five points for each day it's late. After Sunday, the Discussions are closed for that week and no more late work is accepted.
- All Other Homework: There is a two-day grace period for homework assignments. After that, I do not accept late work.
- Exams: If you don't have a midterm or final exam, no worries. Otherwise note that I do not accept any late midterms or exams. The quizzes I have for my classes are always open until the end of the term.
- Final Paper: There are no late assignments accepted for Final Term Papers (sometimes called Portfolio Assignments) and all Incremental Assignments associated with the Final Paper.

Life happens. We have stressors. We must manage them. That includes traveling for work or pleasure and any problems with your jobs, partners, parents, siblings, friends, kids, other classes, etc. that come up. Please manage your lives so that you can also manage this class. Your life (and your homework) is your responsibility. That said, I allow two assignment extensions per term. Use those opportunities wisely.

I expect that your behavior in our classroom is respectful. Continued disrespectful behavior in my class will result in your grade lowering. Please keep your postings to discussion boards (DBs) thoughtful and polite. One-on-one conversations should be taken offline, so our DBs don't get clogged. If you find at any point that you are uncomfortable with anything posted to a DB, please email me right away. Be wary of soapboxing in this class; you may be tempted to present your opinion and editorialize but refrain from doing this. We're here to think about the world in a fair, balanced, thoughtful, and nuanced manner. One-way thinking doesn't work here.

Remember: Falling behind can be hazardous to your health!

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: In this course, you will be completing assigned readings, participating in discussion board assignments, writing essays, and completing short quizzes (all multiple choice). The work you do for this class will keep you critically engaged with the world around you from a sociological perspective. Expect to be writing every week. The key to this course is your thoughtful reflection on course material.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS (DETAILS):

Attendance and Participation*:	75 points collected via 3 - 25-point assignments
Critical Reflections (4):	400 points 100 points each
Main Discussion Boards (8):	320 points 40 points each, note description below
Portfolio Milestone: Topic (1):	40 points
Portfolio Project Final (1):	310 points
TOTAL:	1145 points possible

Participation points accrue with various short assignments in the Discussion Area, such as your Introductory DB. These are labeled PARTICIPATION DBs. The Main DB assignments are labeled MAIN DBs.

Remember: Falling behind can be hazardous to your health!
The Fine Print (or, what I mean by that table above):

Attendance & Participation: Check-in no less than four times per week, be engaged with all of your discussion board assignments, provoke energetic and polite discussion, listen/read/comprehend actively, work respectfully with your colleagues in class, take loads of notes from your readings, look up words you don't understand, ask questions, think critically about the world around you, etc. Make use of the Q&A Board as well as our Internet Café. These are not scored, but even if you don't have questions, you might be able to answer somebody's query, so have some presence there.

Critical Reflections: Your Critical Reflections are based solely on course material. Keep up with the reading. Your Critical Reflections are 2-3 pages in length (writing guidelines are listed below). Each week you have two options from which to choose. Always only choose one.

Main Discussion Board Assignments: The work done in the Discussion Board area will have you engage course material and work closely together. You are expected to participate in these assignments to generate critical discussion amongst one another. Be aware that some of these require a few days, or even a week, of preparatory work. Make sure you look ahead at your homework. These assignments are always due on Thursdays and Sundays (your initial posts go up Thursdays, and your responses to one another's initial posts are due by Sundays). Your DBs are graded on two things: your original post and your responses (two of them) to your colleagues' Initial Posts. You must do both to earn full credit. Your Initial Posts are worth 25 points, and your responses (total) are worth 15 points. Important note: Responding to people in your thread is great; you should do it. But you won't get those Response Points for them. You must respond to others' initial posts. Also, when I pop in and engage in the dialogue (I don't always do this, but I will on occasion), it's great to respond to me, but you also do not get points for this. Keep an eye out for my responses; I may be trying to help you improve your grade. If I don't respond, you'll see me "like" your post; I do this to let you know that I am engaged and following along.

Portfolio Project: Your Portfolio Project is a research paper, and as with your Critical Reflections, you also have two options from which to choose. Your topic is due in week five of the course, and your final paper is due during finals week. You will have an opportunity to share your topics with one another midway through the course, and you will also have an opportunity to submit a draft to me for review.

Participation Discussion Board Assignments: These are meant to support you throughout the course. They are required, and the grades get folded into your overall Participation Grade.

For all your written work: Submit proofread work only. Work not proofread will be returned once for a rewrite, expected to be handed in within 48 hours. If you need help with your writing, please make use of the following student support services:

- Academic Success Center
- Academic Tutoring Center
- TRiO Student Support Services
- Writing Lab @ BC

Below is a checklist for you to go over before you hand in each written assignment.

- Twelve-point sized Times font, double-spaced
- 1" margins all around
- APA Citations where appropriate – credit must be given even where any ideas presented in the paper are not your own (see notes below about avoiding plagiarism)
- Title pages and bibliographies are not counted as pages due
- Student information is at the top left of the page, single spaced
- There are no extra spaces between paragraphs.
- Paragraphs contain no less than four sentences.
- Magazines, newspapers, journals, and books are italicized. Movie titles, article titles, song titles, etc. are “in quotation marks.” Quotes inside of a quotation use ‘single quotation marks.’
- Avoid the universal “we”, “our”, “us” – ask yourself: Can I speak for everyone? If you cannot, do not write it. Also avoid phrasing such as “nowadays...” and “since the beginning of time.” Be accurate. Know what you’re writing and why.
- Do not use Wikipedia, CliffNotes, or other such encyclopedic references. Wikipedia is not peer-reviewed and therefore unreliable. Do your own research. If you’re going to research online (which is absolutely encouraged and totally legit), make sure you understand what you’re looking for. Do a deep dive into the internet to find your stuff.
- Be sure that no more than 20% of your papers are outside sources. You must be providing your own analysis while you draw from material presented to you in class.

Your written work is evaluated on:

- 1) Content
 - a. Fulfilling the entire assignment. Doing the minimum amount of work expected will likely get you a passing grade, but not an outstanding one. You’re expected to go the extra mile.
 - b. Fully developing your argument(s) and making use of examples and evidence to support your argument(s).

- c. Flow of thought throughout the paper, with strong analyses and conclusions.
- 2) Writing Style
 - a. Excellent command of the written English language. In other words, most excellent grammar. NOTE: If you struggle with grammar and spelling or are an ESL student, please let me know! I'm happy to work with you and point you in the right direction.
 - b. Clarity of thought.
 - c. Good organization and attention to detail.
 - d. Persuasiveness of your argument/s.
 - e. Creativity. Make it an interesting read!
 - f. PROOFREAD your work. Please do a spell/grammar check before you hand it in. Read it out loud to yourself, too! It really helps.
 - g. Dude, like totally don't write colloquially. A conversation is a conversation. A paper is an entirely different way of presenting your research and ideas. ☺

Preventing Plagiarism: Plagiarism is a form of academic dishonesty occurring when students use information or material from outside sources and do not properly cite those sources. This is grounds for disciplinary action. It is your responsibility to understand plagiarism and its consequences. Plagiarism occurs if:

- a. You do not cite quotations and/or attribute borrowed ideas.
- b. You fail to enclose borrowed language in quotation marks.
- c. You do not write summaries and paraphrases in his/her own words and/or doesn't document his/her source.
- d. You turn in work created by another person.
- e. You submit or use your own prior work for a current or past course, or work from one current course in another course without express permission from your professors. This may also be considered academic dishonesty.
- f. Consequences: If it is determined that you have plagiarized or engaged in other forms of academic dishonesty, you will likely fail the assignment and possibly the course, despite points earned through other work. Acts of academic dishonesty are reviewed for disciplinary action.

Grading:

Please use the following rubric to help explain the grade you're given for a given assignment. I offer comments on all of your written work and general comments on the Discussion Boards – sometimes more, sometimes less. Please read my comments and do not hesitate to come to me with any questions you ever have on a grade you receive. There is no limit to how many times you email me! My email door is always open.

90-100 = A. "A" work shows me you're engaged with all course material by utilizing quotes and ideas. It is writing completely free from grammar and spelling errors, demonstrating your command not only of the English language, but of the form and flow of a solid piece of written work. I also like to see/read/hear your “writing voice.” That is, I want your style to come through! Your arguments should be solid and backed up with intellectual ammunition. You should demonstrate a strong understanding of our readings and the in-class media and how they intersect with one another. Your ideas should be “fleshed out” and not just a series of statements, in other words.

80-89 = B. The “B” tells me you’re doing very good work. You may have a couple of grammar issues, but your work is still tidy, and the writing is still strong. You have a firm grasp on the themes in the course, but you may not be as well-versed in the readings and/or media and/or lecture material as you could be. I should see that you’re being challenged and that you’re struggling with the course issues and themes, and what they represent to you in an interconnected way. Your understandings of some of the course materials are stronger than others.

70-79 = C. “C” work means that you’re not as invested in the material as I would like to see. Your writing is relatively weaker than it could be and you’re not thinking as critically as I would like you to. You write the bare minimum of the length requirement. Some of what you point out I may not follow logically, and your use of the course materials may not be as solid as it could be. You omit some of the important points raised in class.

60-69 = D. Ah, the “D.” “D” is for “Don’t be Discouraged.” I will work closely with each of you as much as time allows, getting you up to speed in class. Your struggles should not be with writing so much at this point but if they are please see me immediately. “D” work is not proofread, nor does it deal critically with the themes in the course. It responds, perhaps, to one part of one of the readings but there is little-to-no integration of material and you’re not responding to the questions raised in the assignment. Demonstrated understanding of the course materials is not presented clearly, or at all. (NOTE: A “D” and below may be rewritten once if you choose to do so. It must be turned in within 72 hours, and I enter the better grade.)
