The best way to reach me outside class hours is by email – this includes arranging a meeting in advance during my office hours. I try my best to respond to emails within 24 hours but please know that between my teaching schedule and other responsibilities at the college, it may take me a little longer. Please contact me again if you do not hear back within 48 hours. Should you also want to make an appointment outside regular office hours, please email me a proposed time at least 48 hours ahead of when you'd like to meet.

Course Overview

At its most basic, sociology is the scientific study of society, but it's also about how society shapes who we are and how we in turn shape society. In this class, we will analyze our passive and active roles in society in a variety of contexts. This course is designed to be both informative and fun and in order to accomplish both, you should expect a variety of textbook readings, news articles, videos, radio clips, discussions, and activities. You'll learn to consider the world through a sociological lens as we look at issues related to economic inequality, gender, sexuality, race, groups and institutions, social change, and the environment.

When employers talk about needed skills for the 21st century, you may often hear critical thinking and “soft skills” labeled as high priorities. Sociology is a training ground for these invaluable academic and career skills. This academic (and life) discipline helps us identify our assumptions about the social world, analyzes and unpacks them, then challenges what we take for granted and offers alternative explanations through theories and data. Studying sociology helps us see the interactions of individuals and society for how they actually are, and not for how we wish them to be. Sociology also offers hope for making the world a better place and I will regularly challenge you to discover solutions.

Lastly, and most importantly, this is a Service-Learning class. If you've never taken a class that includes Service-Learning (referred to as S-L), then you're in luck! According to Campus Compact, “Service-learning incorporates community work into the curriculum, giving students real-world learning experiences that enhance their academic learning while providing a tangible benefit for the community.” (<https://compact.org>) Although the learning we'll do in the class is a great place to get familiar with how social forces shape us and us them, serving in the community allows you to make real life connections to the material we'll be discussing. You can think of S-L as learning by doing and having fun while you're at it!

Course Outcomes

By the end of this course you should:

- Describe fundamental sociological concepts, theories, and theorists, and apply them to real-life situations
- Identify the ways in which cultural and social institutions shape the everyday experiences of individuals, groups and communities.
- Critically examine the social landscape in which you live and how life experiences differ according to race, class, gender and sexuality.

Grading

Grades will be based on the following distribution:

Participation + Attendance + Service Hours (16 hours)	20%
Group activities	25%
Reflections & homework assignments	25%
Quizzes and Tests	30%

Participation means regularly taking part in discussions in class and on Canvas:

In college, a good "test" to evaluate if you've adequately participated in class is whether or not the professor remembers your name. I pride myself on remembering everyone's name in class (eventually), so that's not enough of an indicator for me. In this class, I determine participation based on a few criteria:

- Did you come to class almost every day? (This is the attendance portion)
- Did you ask questions?
- Did you respond to my questions?
- Were your responses well developed (rather than just yes or no answers) and did they exhibit a high degree of critical thinking?
- Did you actively participate in group activities/discussions?
- Did you actively contribute to this course in a way that positively benefited the overall class?

If you can say YES to all of those questions, you get 100 out of 100 points. If not, then your grade will reflect how much you participate.

Group activities will include discussions, investigative or brainstorming assignments, and a service-learning related presentation. Although not all in-class activities and assignments will be graded, it's important to treat each as if it will be. I will notify you in class when something is a graded assignment, which is why it's important to attend every lesson. The S-L presentation will offer you the chance to do a deeper dive into the community issue that you're working on in your service and to teach the rest of us about it. This will be group based.

Reflections & Homework assignments require you to engage with a particular topic by critically analyzing the issue, applying sociological concepts in your analysis, and/or explaining your own thought process. Reflecting on your service and how it relates to what we learn in class and broader social patterns is a crucial element of the S-L experience. These reflections will be graded on the amount of effort and thinking that went in to them. If you make a concerted effort to engage in a deep discussion of the question, you receive full credit. If you only make a partial effort, you only receive partial credit.

Quizzes are short evaluations on whether you did the readings, while tests cover whole chapters or thematic units. These may be a mix of multiple choice and short answer questions that will test your knowledge of terminology, theories, and ability to apply concepts learned.

Letter Grade Equivalents

A	=	93-100%	C+	=	77-79%
A-	=	90-92%	C	=	73-76%
B+	=	87-89%	C-	=	70-72%
B	=	83-86%	D+	=	67-69%
B-	=	80-82%	D	=	60-66%
			F	=	0-59%

If you make a serious effort in this class, which includes doing the readings, contributing meaningfully to class discussions and group assignments, you should have no problem passing. Any difficulties completing the work should be communicated to me as soon as possible so I can help you.

Classroom Learning Atmosphere

Keeping an Open Mind - Essential to a liberal arts education is an open-minded tolerance for ideas and modes of expression which might conflict with one's personal values. By being exposed to such ideas or expressions, students are not expected to endorse or adopt them but rather to understand that they are part of the free flow of information upon which higher education depends.

To this end, you may find that class requirements may include engaging certain materials, such as books, films, and even language, which may, in whole or in part, offend you. These materials are equivalent to required texts and are essential to the course content. If you decline to engage the required material by not reading, viewing, or discussing material you consider offensive, you will still be required to meet class requirements in order to earn credit. This may require responding to the content of the material, and you may not be able to fully participate in required class discussions, exams, or assignments. If this will be an issue for you, please discuss it with me outside of class time.

Attendance – Please attend every class and arrive on time. I understand that life can sometimes get in the way and emergencies do occur. If and when this should happen, please email me as soon as possible. You will still be responsible for class activities or assignments, so it's best to exchange contact information with at least two other students to find out what you missed. Attendance will factor into your Participation grade.

Preparation – This means coming to class with readings completed and materials for taking notes and doing assignments.

Communication and Respect – Our classroom is a civil community. This means I expect us all to respect one another in the language we use (no abusive language towards one another), how and when we speak (don't interrupt, speak over others, or have side conversations), or how we disagree with someone (politely discuss and no personal attacks). Due to the nature of some of the topics we will study, having a "gut" reaction is not unusual. However, I expect you to think critically before immediately responding with the first reaction that comes to mind. Doing so will allow us to elevate the discussion to a higher level in a friendly and respectful manner.

Cell Phones – Phones are an important part of all our lives, but they can also be very distracting in the classroom. Please keep your cell phone on silent and in your bag during class time unless I ask you to take it out for an activity or assignment. I may ask to see your phone if we're using our phones for an activity. If you need to use your phone for an emergency, ask me first and I may ask to step outside the room. You will lose participation points in class if you use your phone when you shouldn't.

Bellevue College's Rules and Regulations

Incomplete Grades

Faculty may issue an incomplete (I) grade if students meet the following conditions:

- Students must have completed 85% of the required coursework by the time the quarter ends
- Students must have earned at least a C average for all submitted coursework

Note: Students must ask to receive an incomplete grade, but approval of the request is at the discretion of the instructor. You can read more about Policy 3000P2 here.

Withdrawal from Class

Students may officially withdraw from a course or courses during the established deadlines as listed in the academic/enrollment calendar. Faculty assign the grade earned and students with extenuating circumstances must submit an appeal to Student Central to ask for an official withdrawal. Students with a medical situation may also qualify for a refund of tuition and fees. You can read more about Policy 2450P here.

Accessibility

The online elements of this course are designed to be welcoming to, accessible to, and usable by everyone, including students who are English-language learners, have a variety of learning styles, have disabilities, or are new to online learning. Be sure to let me know immediately if you encounter a required element or resource in the course that is not accessible to you. Also, let me know of changes I can make to the course so that it is more welcoming to, accessible to, or usable by students who take this course in the future.

Affirmation of Inclusion

Bellevue College is committed to maintaining an environment in which every member of the campus community feels welcome to participate in the life of the college, free from harassment and discrimination. We value our different backgrounds at Bellevue College, and students, faculty, staff members, and administrators are to treat one another with dignity and respect.

Affirmation of Inclusion

Religious Holidays

Reasonable Accommodations for Reasons of Faith and Conscience: Students who will be absent from course activities due to reasons of faith or conscience may seek reasonable accommodations so that grades are not impacted. Such requests must be made within the first two weeks of the course to the office of the Associate Vice President of Student Affairs (see Bellevue College Policy 2950). In the event you feel you are being discriminated against based on faith or conscience, you may refer to the procedures outlined in the college's Discrimination, Harassment and Retaliation Policy (1440P).

Annual Notice Non-Discrimination

Bellevue College does not discriminate on the basis of race or ethnicity; creed; color; national origin; sex; marital status; sexual orientation; age; religion; genetic information; the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability; or veteran status in educational programs and activities which it operates. Bellevue College is prohibited from discriminating in such a manner by college policy and by state and federal law. All college personnel and persons, vendors, and organizations with whom the college does business are required to comply with applicable federal and state statutes and regulations designed to promote affirmative action and equal opportunity.

Reports of gender and sex-based discrimination, sexual misconduct, or retaliation by a student should be raised with the Title IX office (see 1440P2 for contact information). In cases where the impacted party is a student and the responding party is a college employee, the Title IX coordinator will direct the matter to the Office of Human Resources (HR). All other reports, including all reports where the impacted party is an employee, should be raised with the HR. If a report is against personnel in the Title IX office or HR, it should be submitted to the president's office for referral to an alternate designee.

Confidentiality and Mandatory Reporting

As an instructor, one of my responsibilities is to help create a safe learning environment on our campus. It is my goal that you feel able to share information related to your life experiences in classroom discussions, in your written work, and in our one-on-one meetings. I will seek to keep information you share private to the greatest extent possible. However, I am required to share with the Title IX Coordinator any and all information regarding sexual assault and other forms of sexual misconduct (e.g. relationship violence, stalking) that may have occurred on campus or that impacts someone on campus. Students may speak to someone confidentially by contacting the BC Counseling Center at (425) 564-2212. The Title IX Office can be contacted at 425-564-2641 and more information can be found at Title IX (<http://www.bellevuecollege.edu/titleix/>).

If you have any concerns, you may report to: Report Concerns

Student Conduct Code and Academic Integrity

Any act of academic dishonesty, including cheating, plagiarism (using the ideas or words of another as one's own without crediting the source), and fabrication, and inappropriate/disruptive classroom behavior are violations of the Student Conduct Code of Bellevue College. Examples of disruptive behavior include, but are not limited to, repeatedly talking out of turn, arriving late or leaving early without a valid reason, allowing cell phones to ring, and inappropriate behavior toward the instructor or classmates. The instructor can refer any violation of the Student Conduct Code to the Manager of Student Conduct for investigation. Specific student rights, responsibilities, and appeal procedures are listed in the Student Conduct Code at: Student Code

Certain assignments submitted online may utilize VeriCite to check for plagiarism. This service compares student writings with sources available on the Internet, select commercial article databases, and papers submitted at Bellevue College and other institutions using VeriCite.

Any Additional Concerns

If there are any concerns or complaints not covered by the above resources, then 1) speak with me. I'm always open and willing to chat. 2) Next, you can contact the Chair of Sociology – Jennifer Lê (jennifer.le@bellevuecollege.edu). 3) If you feel you need to speak with someone higher, email the Interim Dean of Social Science, Chris Bell (chris.bell@bellevuecollege.edu).

Disability Resource Center (DRC)

The Disability Resource Center serves students with disabilities. Common disabilities include physical, neurological (e.g. Autism, ADD/ADHD), and mental health (e.g. depression, anxiety). If you are a student who has a disability or if you think you may need accommodations in order to have equal access in your classes, programs, activities, and any other services, please contact the DRC.

If you require assistance in an emergency, please meet with your individual instructors to develop a safety plan for while in class and contact the DRC to develop a safety plan for while you are elsewhere on campus.

The DRC office is located in building B Room 132. You can contact the DRC by stopping by the office at B132, calling our front desk phone number (425) 564-2498, emailing drc@bellevuecollege.edu. Deaf students can reach us by calling TTY: (425) 564-4110, or by Skype (account name DRCatBC). For more information about the services we offer, including our Initial Access Application, visit our website at Disability Resource Center (<http://www.bellevuecollege.edu/drc>).

Service Animals are allowed in this classroom. Emotional Support Animals need to be approved through the DRC. All other animals will be asked to leave. If you believe you need your animal with you, please connect with the DRC and refrain from bringing your animal until a decision has been made.

Academic Success Center & Reading Lab

The Academic Success Center, and all associated labs, is committed to providing high-quality educational resources for all students enrolled at Bellevue College. They offer peer and expert assistance, providing the tools that will enable and encourage students to become independent and life-long learners.

<https://www.bellevuecollege.edu/asc/>

The ASC offers tutoring for a wide variety of subjects taught at Bellevue College, hands-on academic workshops, a Writing Lab for writing help, and a Reading Lab outfitted with new computers and software that helps students improve their reading skills to become more active, efficient, and effective readers. Should you want to use the Reading Lab's services, I will happily sign a referral form for you. These can be picked up at the lab or printed from the ASC website.

Public Safety

Public Safety is located in the D building (D-171) and can be reached at 425-564-2400 (easy to remember because it's the only office on campus open 24 hours a day: 2400). Among other things, Public Safety serves as our center for Parking Permits, Lost and Found, and Emergency Notification.

Please ensure you are signed up to receive alerts through the campus alerting system by registering at RAVE Alert Registration.

If you work late and are uneasy about going to your car, Public Safety will escort you to your vehicle. To coordinate this, please phone ahead and let Public Safety know when and where you will need an escort.

Please familiarize yourself with the emergency postings by the door of every classroom and know where to go in the event of an evacuation. Your instructor will be asked if anyone might still be in the building, so check in before you do anything else. Emergency responders will search for anyone unaccounted for.

If a major emergency occurs, please follow these three rules:

- 1) Take directions from those in charge of the response. We all need to be working together.
- 2) Do not get in your car and leave campus (unless directed to). Doing so will clog streets and prevent emergency vehicles from entering the scene. Instead, follow directions from those in charge.
- 3) In an emergency, call 911 first, then Public Safety.

Please do not hesitate to call Public Safety if you have safety questions or concerns at any time. You may also visit the Public Safety web page for answers to your questions.

Additional Information Regarding the PRC

A note about accessing Canvas from the People's Republic of China: some users have reported that they do not have full access to all Canvas functionality from within the People's Republic of China. This appears to be due to Canvas' parent company, Instructure, not fully committing to Chinese government requirements regarding internet operations within the country. The Chinese government does not inform foreign entities of their policy updates; therefore, Bellevue College cannot anticipate access to Canvas.

If you will be in China during the quarter, you should prepare for intermittent and uncertain access to Canvas.

Final Examination Schedule

The Social Science Division will adhere to the final examination schedule as stated in the BC Schedule. Final examinations will be held at the end of each quarter at fixed times. Instructors will not give examinations in advance of the regular schedule. A student who is absent from any examination held at any time during the quarter may forfeit the right to make up the examination. If, for illness or some other circumstance beyond the student's control, the student is unable to be present at any scheduled examination and has contacted the instructor on a timely basis, the student may be permitted to take such examination at a time designated by the instructor.

Bellevue College Exam Schedules: <https://www.bellevuecollege.edu/courses/exams/>

As per the college's schedule, our final exam will be on Thursday, December 5, 3:30-5:20pm.
