Instructor: Clifford Cawthon, MA | Email: Clifford.cawthon@bellevuecollege.edu | Phone: 425.564.6159

Office Hours:

Daily- 8:00am-9:00am

Monday-Thursday- 12:30pm-1:00pm

Fridays- 2:30pm-3:15pm

Or by appointment

Office: A200F

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Explores the philosophical foundations of politics and political activity. Organized around key political and philosophical concepts, such as authority, citizenship, equality, justice, liberty, power, rights, and sustainability. Same as PHIL 201. Either POLS 201 or PHIL 201 may be taken for credit, not both.

OUTCOMES

1. To obtain a specialized knowledge of political theory with emphasis in the areas of legitimacy, justice, rights, and freedom.

2. To enlarge our political vocabularies, so that we may engage each other in political argument with greater force, flexibility, intelligence, and exactitude.

3. To conduct political dialogue with sympathy, critical attention, passion, and respect.
4. To develop clearly defined perspectives on the originations of political viewpoints and ideologies.

MODE OF INSTRUCTION

Substantial parts of lecture will be dedicated to discussion, participatory activities and especially on Thursdays. Participation is strongly encouraged. Students are expected to complete the assigned reading prior to the lecture for which it is assigned. They are also expected to bring the readings to lecture.

ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Grades breakdown:

Attendance	10%
In class discussion	10%
Engaging philosophy Assignments	20%
Midterm Essay	20%
15 Point Quizzes	15%
The Political Philosophy Of.....presentation	25%
Total	100%

Attendance - see the attendance policy toward the end of the syllabus. Seriously, read it!

In-Class Discussions- During the quarter, there will be multiple class discussions based on pre-assigned reading materials based on current issues and events. The students must use the course material in some form to support their arguments. Students will be assessed based on their participation and attendance for these seminar-style classes.

15 Point Quizzes- These will be administered online. There will be 5 quizzes throughout the quarter and will be available on canvas for no more than 12 hours. They will be available at 9:00am on the day they are assigned and will close at 9:00am the following day. Please contact your instructor ahead of time if you cannot complete this quiz due to an acceptable absence. If you miss one of these quizzes, from the time it is administered to 10 days after the quiz closes, you will be able to arrange a makeup-plan with your instructor. If you do not contact the instructor within that time-frame then your grade will be forfeit.

Engaging Philosophy Assignments – Most weeks, students are asked to address questions about the readings. They will be expected to build upon the readings and lessons to come to their own conclusions based on the prompting question. These assignments will be issued on Thursdays and will be due the following Monday by the end of the business day (5:00pm PST) via canvas. These responses should be in the form of a small essay, 500 to 750 words with an intro, thesis, body (made up of arguments, evidence and examining counter-arguments) and a conclusion. Submissions that do not meet this criteria shall have their submission judged to 70% of its value.

Midterm Essay- This will be a midterm in essay form online that will cover a significant concept from the reading and/ or the lectures. This will include a combination of multiple choice questions and short answers that will require a 3-4 sentence response. There will not be an essay portion. This exam will require the use of scantrons and a green/ bluebook.

The Political Philosophy Of [Final Assignment]- In lieu of a final exam, students will make 5-10 minute presentation on the political philosophy behind a certain political figure, work of literature or film. This assignment will be a group assignment and the instructor will determine how students will be sorted into assignment groups.

COURSE POLICIES

Expectations

This is a college-level course, which means you are responsible for your own learning. Expectations include:

- completing assignments by the date/time listed in the syllabus.
- coming to class prepared to discuss the day's readings.
- bringing reading materials to class; participating in classroom discussions.
- fulfilling course requirements missed during absences; and taking initiative to answer questions about content and assignments.
- Students are advised to read the syllabus carefully before emailing questions to the instructor.

Community Expectations

This is a college course so you are expected to treat this class as such. In order to deliver the desired outcomes that we all are here to see, both you, the student, and I, your professor, have a role in your learning process.

The essential expectations that I have are the following:

1. You will turn in work on time, as listed in the syllabus. Or in cases covered in my late work policy you will notify me at the earliest moment that you cannot meet the deadline so, provisions could be made.
2. In this class we will be discussing a variety of political ideas, ideologies, and perspectives and in turn, you are expected to be respectful and open minded to the material and your colleague's contributions.
3. Participate! In this class there will be ample opportunity to discuss the theories and work of many different philosophers. Remember though, if you have a tendency to take up a lot of space in the conversation please be aware and considerate and create space for others.

As a member of our learning community, you have a responsibility to your own education here and I have a responsibility to support your education as fairly and thoroughly as I can, as your professor. I expect you to complete assignments in a timely manner, read each assigned supplemental work to prepare for the day's course, and log onto the course website to confirm that you're ready for the work day.

Taking responsibility for your education also requires you to reach out when you need assistance. My office hours are specified above, however, I will do my best to accommodate your schedule and make myself available for questions.

There are no "dumb" questions in this course. If you are confused about something, please ask, or take the time to find the answer by either: a) flexing your research muscles; b) forming a study group for long-term support; c) email me or post a question to the "Ask the Professor" discussion board.

LATE WORK AND OTHER CLASSROOM POLICIES

Late work: Assignments are due on the date listed in the course schedule and the quizzes/tests will be in-class on the date listed in the schedule. You will have a period from two weeks after the assignment's original due date to turn in late work for 85% of the grade. This means that if you turn in work during this two-week period, I will multiply your final score by 85/100.

You do not need to ask me to turn in work during this period; all you need to do is turn it in. Late work may lead to delays in grading and delays in instructor feedback, as I will prioritize work that is turned in on time. In-class quizzes and tests do not qualify for this policy.

If your work is more than two weeks late or you are falling behind due to emergency/unforeseen circumstances, you can work with me to create an individualized plan. Please do not make requests for extensions in person at the beginning or end of a class period because it is difficult for me to properly keep track of agreements made hastily. Instead, email me at clifford.cawthon@bellevuecollege.edu or please schedule a time to meet with me or come to my office hours.

IMPORTANT

English Second (or more) Language Students: If English is your second language, you can use a translation dictionary during in-class assessments (quizzes and exams). The dictionary must be a book not an electronic dictionary, and it must be the type of translation dictionary that only includes the translation, not the definition. If English is a second (or third or fourth) language, I encourage you to talk with me directly so that we can make sure the learning environment works for you.

Electronics Policy: At the beginning of class please turn your phone on silent and put it away. Unless I state otherwise, phones are not allowed in class and I will reserve the right to call you out on it. Laptops are allowed for note-taking only. If at any point you feel that you need to use your device(s) for communications, please quietly get up and do so outside.

In order to respect the wishes of other, by default there is no recording of any audio or video allowed in the classroom. Nevertheless, if any of these policies prohibit you from being able to learn in the fullest possible way, please meet with me to work out an individualized solution.

During final exams and exams, electronic devices will not be allowed. If you attempt to exit the classroom during a final with an electronic device or use one during an examination, it will be assumed that you are attempting to cheat and you will receive an automatic grade of "0".

IMPORTANT

Attendance: It is critical to your learning experience that you attend class. In a case of a serious illness, injury, traffic accident, family illness, or an emergency which for legal, physical or for emotional well-being of your family requires your presence during class time; please contact me via email or my office phone to inform me that you will not be able to attend class.

Those who contact me after they were absent from class within 48 hours of that absence will be excused. Though, if this isn't an isolated incident then I reserve the right to not excuse the absence or make an inquiry in order to come up with an attendance plan that will work for you. Please work with me, I am here for you.

The Consequences and Opportunities of missing class, and coming to class are the following:

During the course, I will be keeping attendance. For those who miss more than 30% of classes, they will have 3 points deducted from their final exam. For those who attend 60% of classes during the quarter then they will receive 5 additional points on their final exam.

Email and Canvas Inbox: Canvas provides many different places to communicate with me (replies to my feedback/grading, etc.), which can sometimes make communicating more challenging than it needs to be. The best ways to communicate with me are: in person during office hours (or by appointment); through my BC email; or the Canvas 'inbox'. I may check these locations at odd hours, such as at night or over the weekend. But please do not expect me to reply outside of regular business hours. Respect the dynamic that teaching this class is my workplace. On my end I will be answering your messages swiftly. However, if I do not answer your inquiry in about a day, you should feel comfortable to follow up.

Institutional Commitments and Policies

Affirmation of Inclusion

Bellevue College is committed to maintaining an environment in which every member of the campus community feels welcome to participate in the life of the college, free from harassment and discrimination. We value our different backgrounds at Bellevue College, and students, faculty, staff members, and administrators are to treat one another with dignity and respect.

Religious Holidays

Students who expect to miss classes, examinations, or any other assignments as a consequence of their religious observance should be provided with a reasonable alternative opportunity to complete such academic responsibilities. It is the obligation of students to provide faculty with reasonable notice of the dates of religious holidays on which they will be absent, preferably at the beginning of the term. Students who are absent on days of examinations or class assignments should be offered an opportunity to make up the work without penalty (if they have previously arranged to be absent), unless it can be demonstrated that a makeup opportunity would constitute an unreasonable burden on a member of the faculty. Should disagreement arise over what constitutes an unreasonable burden or any element of this policy, parties involved should consult the department chair, or Dean.

NOTE: For those who celebrate and/ or observe holidays which may affect their academic performance during an exam or assessment, please notify your instructor straightaway so we can work together to create a plan that works for you.

College Anti-Discrimination Statement (Title IX)

Bellevue College does not discriminate on the basis of race or ethnicity; color; creed; national origin; sex; marital status; sexual orientation; age; religion; genetic information; the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability; gender identity or veteran status in educational programs and activities which it operates.

Academic Integrity

Cheating and plagiarism (using the ideas or words of another as one's own without crediting the source) are violations of the Student Code of Conduct at Bellevue College. Such behavior will result in a zero grade for the assignment/exam in question. Please familiarize yourself with BC's Student Code of Conduct: <http://www.bellevuecollege.edu/policies/id-2050p/>.

Plagiarism in my class will be dealt with in the following way:

1st offence: Warning, no formal report or citation will be made. Counseling on proper citation will be given.

2nd offence: Warning and recording of the offence. This information may be used in a formal report if needed.

3rd offence: A formal report will be made to College authorities.

Important Resources/Services

Disability Resource Center – B132- THEY'RE AWESOME!

The Disability Resource Center (DRC) serves students with a wide array of learning challenges and disabilities. If you are a student who has a disability or learning challenge for which you have documentation or have seen someone for treatment and if you feel you may need accommodations in order to be successful in college, please contact the DRC as soon as possible. If you are a student with a documented autism spectrum disorder, there is an additional access program available to you. Contact Autism Spectrum Navigators. Email and phone number is on the web page. ASN is located in the Library Media Center in D125.

The DRC office is located in B132 or you can call the reception desk at (425) 564.2498. Deaf students can reach the DRC by Skype: the address is DRCatBC (NOTE: There is no @ sign...it is actually DRCatBC). Please visit the website at Disability Resource Center for application information and other helpful links.

Multicultural Services – 2nd Floor of B building (above the bookstore) THEY'RE GREAT!

Multicultural Services (MCS) is a student-centered service program on campus that is designed to support all students in general, and diverse student populations in particular. MCS is a broad program that can assist students with tutoring in Math and English as well as help students locate community resources such as food and housing assistance. Please familiarize yourself with MCS by stopping by or visiting: bellevuecollege.edu/mcs/

The Counseling Center provides personal, career, and academic counseling for all registered BC students. The Counseling Center can be a helpful place for locating community resources (referrals) as well as free counseling appointments with the center's staff of licensed mental health counselors. Please familiarize yourself with the services offered by the counseling center by stopping by or visiting: bellevuecollege.edu/counseling/
