CLASS PARTICIPATION AND PREPAREDNESS (CPP) GRADE. It is very important to the learning process that you show up to class prepared to participate in the discussions and homework review. As such, 5% of your FINAL Grade will be based upon your class participation and preparedness. This portion of your grade will be determined solely at my discretion, but the following guidelines should help you understand how it will be determined. For every missed class after two (2), your CPP grade will be reduced by 10%. In other words, if you miss 4 classes during the term (which equals approx. 20% of the total class time), your maximum CPP grade will be 80 (or $100 - (2 \times 10)$ for a class with 100 points available for participation.. Additionally, if it is determined that you were not prepared during the classes you attended, your grade will be reduced further. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of class. If you come to a class late, it is your responsibility to notify me that you are present. If you are present at the beginning of class but need to leave early, please check in with me before doing so and you will be given credit for the portion of the class you were able to attend. However, if you leave early without letting me know you will be changed with a full miss. These points are at my discretion.

Exams are a combination short answer, problems, and essays.

Class Learning Atmosphere

Instructor's Expectations

This is a 5 credit hour class with approximately 20 lecture and exam sessions. There is an expectation there will be outside classroom work involving homework and studying.

Homework will NOT be collected and graded; however, all assigned questions (see Class Schedule) will be covered in class and you will be called upon frequently to present your answers. A portion of your CPP grade (5%) will be determined here. Though our classroom time together is limited, meaning we cannot cover all of the end of chapter questions, it is recommended you do as many of the questions as possible to more thoroughly prepare yourself for the exams. Answers can be found in the text answer manual in the library. If you have problems with any unassigned questions, please let me know and I will try to work through the answers during the class for your benefit and the benefit of your classmates.

You are expected to spend, on average, 10 hours per week preparing for this class (including reading assignments and problem solving); to come to every class prepared; to take an active role in the classroom discussions; and to assume a self-directed approach to any assigned group work.

This class meets for 2 hours and 10 minutes, twice a week, for 10 weeks. This is not a lot of class time for a 5 credit hour course so regular and prompt attendance is expected and attendance will be taken. If you do need to miss a class, please notify me by email prior to the class so I know not to expect you to be there. In the event of an absence, you will be responsible for the missed class lecture notes, hand-outs, assignments, and any syllabus changes (see DISCLAIMER below). It is recommended that you obtain this information from a classmate.

Please tune in to local radio stations (KOMO, etc.) regarding school closures, but know that you must be the judge of your personal safety and that I will accept your judgments.

The Class Schedule outlines when each chapter will be covered in class. It is expected that you will have thoroughly read each chapter prior to the first time it shows up on this schedule. This is a necessary prerequisite in order to take full advantage of the learning opportunity being presented in my class. If you do not do the reading, do not be surprised if you do not pass the class.

See the Class Schedule for the dates and times of exams. You will be required to bring a #2. Calculators will be provided. In general, late/make-up exams will NOT be administered; however, if necessary, early exams may be arranged as long as it is done well in advance of the scheduled exam date.

I am committed to ensuring that you get the most out of this course and that you are given every reasonable opportunity to achieve success. In this regard, I will commit to being available for group or one-on-one extra help (see General Information for office hours). As an adjunct faculty, I do not have a permanent office on campus; therefore, if you would like to meet with me please send me an email to setup a meeting. As a courtesy, I request notice at least three days in advance of all meeting requests.

I DO NOT SUBSCRIBE TO THE PHILOSOPHY OF EXTRA CREDIT. In other words, please do not make the mistake of counting on extra credit work to bring you back should you fall behind in this class. As such, I strongly recommend you try very hard to get out of the blocks well as it will be difficult to make up ground in this class. Though this may seem harsh, I feel providing special accommodation to students who have performed poorly is unfair to those who stay on schedule and are doing well. However, I will give special consideration when there has been vast improvement when a student does markedly better on the cumulative FINAL than on my earlier exams. If a student scores a 94 percent or greater on the final exam, I will replace the lowest scored exam with the final exam score.

BC provides private tutoring services for any student who feels they are falling behind in the class. These tutoring services must be arranged through the course instructor, so you need to make a formal request before I can contact the appropriate personnel within the college to assist you. If you feel you may require these services, please let me know as soon as possible as there will likely be some delay between the time of the request and delivery of the services. As noted above, I'd be glad to help you as well, but if my schedule isn't right for you or if you feel more comfortable getting outside assistance, please let me know ASAP so I can arrange these services for you.

Reasons of Faith and Conscience

Reasonable Accommodations for Reasons of Faith and Conscience: Students who will be absent from course activities due to reasons of faith or conscience may seek reasonable accommodations so that grades are not impacted. Such requests must be made within the first two weeks of the course to the office of the Associate Vice President of Student Affairs (see Bellevue College Policy 2950 (<https://www.bellevuecollege.edu/policies/id2950/>)). In the event you feel you are being discriminated against based on faith or conscience, you may refer to the procedures outlined in the college's Discrimination, Harassment and Retaliation Policy 1440P (<https://www.bellevuecollege.edu/policies/id-1440p/>).

Affirmation of Inclusion

Bellevue College is committed to maintaining an environment in which every member of the campus community feels welcome to participate in the life of the college, free from harassment and discrimination. We value our different backgrounds at Bellevue College, and students, faculty, staff members, and administrators are to treat one another with dignity and respect. <http://bellevuecollege.edu/about/goals/inclusion.asp>

Cheating, Stealing, Plagiarism

Cheating includes, but is not limited to, copying answers on exams, glancing at nearby exams, turning in assignments or papers that have been used in other classes, and giving or receiving help during an exam. It also includes, but is not limited to, purchasing or selling notes, assignments or examination materials. Stealing includes, but is not limited to, taking the text, notes, exams, library books or other personal property of others without their permission. It also includes, but is not limited to, taking an exam copy from the classroom without permission from the instructor. Plagiarism is presenting the words, ideas, and/or work of others as if it is an individual's own work. It includes, but is not limited to, using other's papers as one's own and including parts of published works without giving credit where credit is due. If you choose to cheat, steal or plagiarize and you are caught doing so, the following actions will be taken: 1) You will receive a failing grade for the course or a failing grade for that assignment, solely dependent upon my judgment and 2) A report of the incident will be forwarded to the Dean of Student Services who may file the report in your permanent record and/or take further disciplinary action. If you feel you have been unfairly accused of any of the above, you may appeal. For a description of due process, see WAC 132H-120, available in the Dean's office.

Examples of unacceptable behavior include, but are not limited to: talking out of turn, arriving late or leaving early without a valid reason, allowing cell phones/pagers to ring, and inappropriate behavior toward the instructor or classmates. The instructor can refer any violation of the Student Code of Conduct to the Vice President of Student Services for possible probation or suspension from Bellevue College. - Please use the restroom before class or during the break, but if you have to go, go. Please be respectful of others as you exit and enter the class.
- Please eat during the break or before class. If you wish to drink, please be respectful to others in terms of the amount of noise you will generate.
- Cellular phones and pagers should be set to vibrate. If you need to take a call, please leave the classroom and be mindful to others as you enter or exit. During tests and exams, all electronics should be turned off and stowed out of sight.
- Laptops and tablets can be used to take notes, however, you will not be able to use them for tests and exams.

WITHDRAWAL POLICY: If feel you need to withdraw from the class for any reason, you are required to do so within the regulations of the school. Students who do not officially withdraw will have their grade calculated on the number of points earned divided by the total possible points assigned for the entire quarter. Please act responsibly and officially withdraw from any classes you choose not to complete. Unless you formally drop by the deadline enrollment/college calendars online, you will receive an "F" grade, with 0.0 grade points.
