CEO INSIDER – Student spotlight

Rachel Kaelin – Enthusiastic CEO Student

I grew up homeschooled and starting BC was a new experience for me as I never grew up in the classroom. But I actually have grown to love BC! My first class was CEO 101 with Paul. He is an awesome teacher and I learned great life skills that really applied to me. I anticipated college being a lot more difficult but the CEO program has been very manageable for me and it feels good to be learning information that I feel is really important and useful. All the teachers I've had have been amazing, they're all so kind, patient, and helpful - making sure I get a good learning experience. Christy, my case manager, made me feel so welcomed. I'm grateful to have such an amazing resource for learning along with great opportunities. I'm working towards getting my two year associates degree in business and personal training. This is my third quarter here so far, but I'm technically only a junior in high school so I'm really glad I can get this head start on my college degree!

Boris Mirzoyan – Enthusiastic CEO Graduate

Hello fellow students, I am thankful to say that this summer I will be graduating from Bellevue College. Like many, I did not take high school seriously. I either skipped class or did not show any type of effort at school. Fortunately the CEO program gave me a second chance to further my education. In spite of that, I had somewhat of a rough start since I started doing the same things all over again.

With help and motivation I got back on track by taking online classes, which helped me out with my schedule. My advice to you is to take classes that are interesting and not just for the credits. As an example, I took art classes because I have a passion for drawing. Also, consider taking online classes because they can be very helpful if you are on a tight schedule. I wish all CEO students success and I hope all of you achieve your goals in life.

An example of my art.
