CEO INSIDER Student Spotlight – Sarah Dullanty

I am a high school dropout. I didn't like school and I didn't like going there. I suffered a lot with many different things throughout my education. I came to CEO looking for a place to get my parents off my back about school, but what I found was a lot more than that. CEO is more than just a program at a college, it is an incredible opportunity. The opportunity to do better, to actually get an education.

I am not good in school. I am not good with homework. I am good in this program.

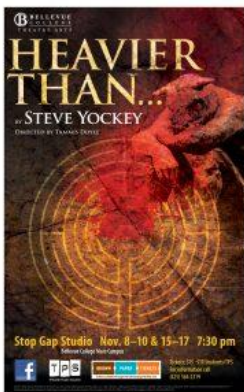

I have found some true friends in CEO. I have met so many great people here and not just among the CEO crowd. That's because CEO is more than just a program, it is a stepping stone to a future career. When I finish my AA, my dream is to transfer into an Anthrozoology program. This is a major that is still just beginning. Anthrozoology is the study between human and non-human behaviors. I want to study the K9 unit and apply what I learn there to training service dogs for special needs kids.

There is a big step between high school dropout and Anthrozoology. I don't want people to see me as just what I can not accomplish. I want people to see me for the kind person I am, a caring soul who just wants to make the world a little bit better. CEO can help me get there.

AND - I'm proud to be performing in November in the BC Theater's production of Heavier Than.

HEAVIER THAN by Steve Yockey
November 8-10 & 15-17
Stop Gap Studio 7:30 p.m.

It's about Asterius, the half-man, half-bull of Greek myth as he turns 30. He dreams of love from his mother, whom he hasn't seen in 27 years. He wants her to see how well he has grown up, so perhaps she'll help end the Greek festivals of brutality and massacre he must face every seven years when local warriors enter his lair to battle him. Come enjoy the play!
